OBJECTS TO RE CROSS ADDRESS IN CONVENTION

Miss Gale Says Peace and Not Bandages Is the Big Subject for Women's Clubs Convention

IDEA IS ADVANCED TO LATE

Chicago Man Already Engaged to Discuss Work of American Red Cross in European War

LOCAL MUSICIANS WILL PLAY

Preludes on Pipe Organ Will Be Rendered by La Crosse Musicians at the Opening of Session

Zona Gale, famous writer and suffragist, has protested against J. J. O'Connor's number on the program of the Women's clubs' convention. Mr. O'Connor is scheduled to speak on "The Work of the American Red Cross."

Miss Gale feels that there should be nothing incidental to the peace propaganda of the federation and she urges that in dealing with universal peace the convention adhere to "drop to bandages."

It was found impossible to conform to Miss Gale's proposal, for the reason that the program committee had already closed arrangements for Mr. O'Connor's appearance. Miss Gale is a member of this committee, with Mrs. James G. Chandler, of Racine, and Mrs. Lillian Finch, of the incident was made possible by Miss Gale's absence in California during the time when the program was being perfected.

Follows a portion of a letter in which Miss Gale explained her point of view to Mrs. Chandler:

"But now I want to add one more thing on a bit of news in yesterday's paper. That about the Red Cross appeal. Must we have that, Mrs. Chandler? It will be out of kindness Mr. Zuehlbin's talk—that of that sure. Greatly as we all appreciate the work of the Red Cross, I also long, in this great sweep of feeling for peace in the world, that we keep the eye of the convention on the long peace, and not on remedies for any single conflict. I am sure that Mr. Zuehlbin's message will be to keep the whole system of the inflictions of physical wounds and death a means of setting international social difficulties. And for us to proceed to an appeal for aid in supplying Red Cross funds will be out of tone and out of keeping. When not doubt that Mr. Zuehlbin and all of us appreciate from our hearts that the Red Cross is doing—ONLY WHERE THERE ARE A THOUSAND INTERESTED IN PAYING FOR BANDAGES AND ANTISEPTICS, ONLY TEN, OR ONE, SEE THE VISION OF PEACE AS A REALITY. It is this vision which the address is to foster. Don't let us drop to bandages—however much we applaud the work of the Red Cross, all of us—we in that meeting have no time—have we?—for anything but the utmost long forward to the peace in which we say we believe."

"I do therefore most earnestly urge the omission of the Red Cross appeal. Let us keep to the cry for peace, peace propaganda, for the psychology of peace in us all, and let us there at La Crosse attend to nothing else, nothing less, when war is mentioned. If we were to have a great mass meeting intent on stamping out the causes of cholera and making people see that it isn't a necessary evil, we wouldn't give part of the time to talking about cholera remedies—no matter how much we felt for the victims. Because the majority of people would be doing just that. And we should want to drive home only the one great point—that cholera needn't be."

Miss Gale's Viewpoint

Mr. O'Connor is expected to explain the methods and experiences of the American Red Cross in the battlefields of Europe.

Cigar Counter Romance Ends In a Wedding

A romance which began over the cigar counter at the Hotel La Crosse over one year ago, culminated last night at Winona, when Miss Mabel Knudson, 1452 Caledonia street, was married to Edward Trudell, Grand Rapids, Wis.

Trudell is a traveling salesman for a Chicago firm. He has made La Crosse for over two years. Miss Knudson sold cigars and dealt in smiles at the Third street hotel where Trudell always put up. He became friends with her first because she was so pleasant. Last night they were married by Dr. T. S. Davitt at Winona.

The groom took the first train here today to "make it right" with the bride's parents. The honeymoon will be spent at Grand Rapids with the groom's parents.

CROOKS DISCOVER LOCAL FAIR HARD PLACE TO WORK

Toughest Bunch in History of Inter-state Fair Finds Rocky Sledding for Hard Working "Dips"

PLANNED A RAID OF SORTS

Police Were "Tipped" to Schemes and Band of Crooks Are Not Given Chance

Every ticket seller at the interstate fair was armed. Riot guns loaded with buckshot stood conveniently in the box offices at the fair ground gates, and plainclothesmen, reinforced by two special detectives from Chicago, kept an eye on the crowds that surged through the midway and the exhibits. For Chief of Police Webster was warned that desperadoes, following the fairs, planned a raid beyond all precedent in the history of La Crosse.

"The toughest bunch I've seen at our fair since I've been in the police business, and that's twenty-seven years ago," Chief of Police John B. Webster said today. He was filled with satisfaction at the scarcity of depredations during fair week. Only three pickpocket cases were reported, despite the fact that the Chicago detectives here spotted nearly a score of well known "dips" in the fair crowds. Eleven dollars, taken with the wallet of a Caledonia visitor, was all the cash the light-fingered gentry lifted. The other two cases resulted in the arrest of their alleged perpetrators, and the intended victims escaped.

Prompt measures were taken by the police when suspicious characters were located. For the northwest fairs this year have been worked as never before. Bandits and pickpockets got away clean with $4,200 at the Rochester, Minn., fair. Winona suffered to the tune of thousands. And other county fairs were touched in proportion. It was a banner year for the crooks. Chief Webster knew of the conditions, and he was aroused to greater watchfulness when the manager of the Capital City Amusement company, the carnival company that came to La Crosse, tipped off to the fair authorities the fact that a band of "dips" and holdups were making plans for a cleanup at La Crosse.

Overhears Plans

Through the wall of a tent in one of his shows at a Dakota fair, the manager overheard the plans laid by the leaders of the gang. La Crosse was ripe for a picking, they said, since the gangster eight years ago, when a squad of half a dozen pickpockets was rounded up by the local police, pickpockets and their ilk have fought shy of the city. The authorities would be off guard, the crooks figured. And plans for a descent in force upon the unsuspecting interstate fair were laid.

The manager told the fair authorities, and they told the chief. And so, when the fair started, the members of the band—most of them worked as salesmen of canes, balloons, etc., on the grounds—found themselves watched at every turn. Those that could not give a straight account of themselves were invited to leave. The two Chicago detectives here spotted others who were taken into the police station, lectured and ordered out of town. And last night, when the fair gates closed, the "mob" got orders to stand not upon the order of its going, but to "beat it." At midnight the chief sent his men out with orders to all of them to get off the streets in fifteen minutes or "stand for a pinch." Today they had disappeared.

Many of them did not even wait for the end of the fair. Wednesday morning a bunch of fifteen boarded a train for Beaver Dam, where a fair is in progress next week.

BULGARS EXPECTED TO OPPOSE ALLIES IN A FORTNIGHT

Reports from Balkans Indicate Early Entry of Bulgaria Into War for Austro-Germans

POWERS WOULD CRUSH SERBIA

Reported Plan Is for Simultaneous Attack of Three Armies on the Serbs

BY HENRY WOOD

United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Within a fortnight Bulgaria will join the Austro-Germans in a combined attempt to cut a path through the Balkans to Constantinople, according to information reaching here today from reliable sources.

The central empire's plan is to crush Serbia by squeezing her between three hostile armies. The Austro-Germans will attack on her western and northern frontiers. Simultaneously the Bulgarians are expected to strike at the Serbs from the east. They plan to occupy Serbia.

GENEVA, Oct. 2.—Italy is preparing to send 200,000 troops to the Balkans to the aid of Serbia when the expected German-Bulgarian offensive begins, according to Rome advices today.

French and English artillerymen are arriving at Belgrade almost daily. A detachment of Russian gunners is reported to have been sent to the Serbian front more than a month ago.

plan Macedonia unless the Anglo-French troops promised Serbia by the allies repel their invasion.

The allied capitals have no further doubts about Bulgaria's intentions. Both London and Paris newspapers today accepted Sir Edward Grey's statement of yesterday as a certain fore-runner of Bulgaria's entrance into the war. The London press commented briefly, expressing the opinion that by joining the Austro-Germans, czar Ferdinand is "backing the wrong horse."

Anglo-French aviators with the Serbian army have disclosed the Austro-German plan of campaign, according to Nish dispatches today. It provides for simultaneous attacks on two fronts. German troops are reported heavily massed between the Save and the Drina to invade eastern Serbia. The largest force is concentrated in the Hungarian district of Banat for an invasion through northeast Serbia to open the way to Turkey.

The action of the Greek parliament in voting war bills convinces the allies that Greece will enter the war when Bulgaria attacks. Rumania's attitude is still in doubt, though press dispatches from Bucharest continue to report active military preparations.

PETITION DENIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The interstate commerce commission today denied the petition of the Illinois Coal Operators' association for a rehearing of that portion of the western advance rate case pertaining to coal. The commission recently granted railroads increased coal rates from Illinois mines without increasing the rates from the lakes, which the operators claimed was a disadvantage to them.

TWENTY ARRESTED IN STRIKE

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Eighteen men and two women were arrested today in the garment workers' strike. The arrests were made after police repeatedly charged into a crowd of 1,000 or more strikers and sympathizers gathered near Halsted and Jackson boulevard, in the heart of the garment manufacturing district. No one was seriously injured.

PANICS RESULT FROM EARTHQUAKE ON SCOTCH BORDER

LONDON, Oct. 2.—An earthquake shook the Solway district this morning. No damage has been reported early this afternoon, but the tremors caused panics throughout a wide area. The Solway district comprises counties of England and Scotland lying along the Scotch-English border, bordering Solway Firth.

FIENDS CAPTURED AFTER CLEVER JOB OF DOPE STEALING

Two Fair Followers Rob the Euler Pharmacy and Are Taken by Police

GRAZED WITH HUNGER IN CELLS

Police Forced to Allow Them "Shots" That They Can Appear in Court

Ingenuity of drug-crazed minds was demonstrated here late yesterday when two fair-followers, dope-fiends both, by a clever ruse stole a bottle of heroin from Charles Euler's pharmacy, State street and West Avenue North. They were captured by the police shortly after the theft, and this morning pleaded guilty to larceny in county court and paid fines of $10 and costs.

Get Dope to Quiet Them

Before they could appear before Judge John Brindley it was necessary to quiet their drug-racked nerves with hypodermic of morphine. From an early hour this morning the two were deathly sick and sometimes raving in their cell in Central police station. They pleaded pitifully for a "shot," and a physician sent for by the police advised that it be given.

About 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon L. D. Wilson, 30, appeared in the Euler pharmacy. He bought a small bottle of iodine, and on the pretext of applying it to his leg, persuaded the proprietor to allow him behind the prescription case. As he went behind the case Harry Robinson, 29, entered. He walked up to the cigar counter and called for service. While Euler's attention was devoted to Robinson, Wilson secreted a $15 bottle of heroin in his pockets.

Hurl Bottle Into Street

The theft was discovered shortly after the men left, and the police were notified at once. The pair was found scarcely a block from the police station, walking toward the city. When placed under arrest they offered no resistance, but at the door of the police station Wilson pitched into the street a bottle which smashed and spilled a white powder over the bricks. Marks on the bottle and some of the powder gathered up by the police proved that the vial was the one taken from the Euler store.

The men were stripped and searched in the station. On Wilson the officers found a hypodermic and bottle of "dope" ready for injection.

Cell Room Mad House

Placed in a cell, the men rapidly went to pieces. Early this morning the cell room was a mad house, as they raved and begged for drugs. Two other dope fiends, who have been under arrest since Wednesday—also fair hangers-on—also set up a cry for drugs, and until a physician arrived and administered small doses they could not be quieted.

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY DIE IN STORM IN SOUTH WEDNESDAY PROPERTY LOSS PUT IN MILLIONS

MILLION MEN LOCKED IN DEATH GRAPPLES ON WESTERN FIGHTING

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The first week of the allies' great offensive ended today with nearly a million men locked in death struggles in the Artois and the Champagne and no diminution in the fury of the battle. Before another week a grand assault may bring more millions into the combat, extending the Artois and Champagne fighting to every sector from Alsace to the sea.

The losses on both sides cannot be accurately estimated. The allies claim the capture of nearly 30,000 prisoners and report total German casualties of more than 150,000. Berlin reports that more than 12,000 British and French prisoners have been taken and describes the allies' losses as "enormous" but attempts no estimate of total casualties.

The net results of the first week of what may develop into the greatest battle in the world's history as drawn from the British, French and German official statements, are believed to be these:

First, the British have gained ground on a five mile front, completing their occupation of Loos and occupying important positions near Lens. North of Loos British have lost some of the newly captured ground through German counter attacks and their advance, temporarily at least, appears to have been halted.

Second, the French have recaptured Souchez and an important height west of Vimy and continue to make slight progress in the Vimy region southwest of Lens. The heaviest German counter-attacks apparently have failed to win back any of the ground taken by the French.

Third, the French have advanced from a mile to two and one-half miles on a fifteen mile front in the Champagne region, and at points are within two miles of the Bazancourt-Challerange railway, one of the lines supply the crown prince's armies in the Argonne. The arrival of German reinforcements and strong German counter-attacks within the past twenty-four hours appear to have checked the French offensive in the Champagne at least temporarily.

Fourth, the German attack to halt the allies' offensive by making a vigorous attack in the Argonne, has failed.

Booby taken by the allies, according to Paris official claims, now includes nearly 200 German guns.

TWO DAYS OF BAD WEATHER FAIL TO MAKE FAIR LOSE

From Every Angle It Was a Success Secretary Van Auker Says Today

NOT EVEN MONEY DEFICIT

Gate Receipts Fall but the Concessions Bring Total Receipts Above Expenses

The gates were closed last night upon what the directors say was one of the most successful inter-state fair weeks in the history of La Crosse. A crowd estimated at about 4,000 went through the turnstiles yesterday, probably the largest number of visitors ever on the fair grounds on closing day.

No Deficit

"From every angle," said Secretary C. S. Van Auker today, "the week was a success. Gate receipts fell off about $1,800 on account of the inclement weather, but what was feared would be a deficit was made up in concessions and gate receipts yesterday."

"Even from the financial standpoint," he said, "the fair was a winner. Last year the attendance broke all records and the fair association had a margin of nearly 4,000 to work with this year. The amount taken in this year will probably be more than $1,000 less than the 1914 fair."

The 1915 fair had the largest number of concessions ever in the fair grounds. This department brought up the total of earnings. The department was in charge of C. A. Hunt.

Fair Is Gone

Fifty per cent of the exhibitors had left the fair grounds late last night, and by tonight the grounds will be completely emptied. Secretary Van Auker was busy today taking care of odds and ends of business.

MORE THAN THREE HUNDRED REPORTED DEAD OR MISSING

New Orleans and Suburbs Alone Has Death List of Eighteen; Outlying Districts Stricken

MANY THOUGHT DEAD ON RIVER

People Reported Caught in Bayous and Islands and on River and Harbor Craft

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—Three hundred and fifty lives were lost in the hurricane that struck New Orleans and the gulf coast Wednesday, according to latest figures compiled here today. Eighteen were killed in New Orleans. The majority of the other deaths were those of fishermen and their families in settlements along the coast, one hundred miles east and west of New Orleans. More than 200 others are reported dead and 117 missing.

Estimates of property damage are varying, owing to the unsatisfactory means of communication to the various part of the stricken district. It is said that the loss on southern Louisiana property alone will be more than $10,000,000.

Little has been heard from a considerable area southwest of New Orleans. The isolated figures given are believed to be accurate. Where the loss of life is estimated, the figures are based on the observation of veteran newspapermen who have had ample opportunities to learn conditions.

The tidewater along the Gulf coast ranged from two and a half feet in the streets bordering the bay at Mobile to sixteen feet at Rigolets, where the greatest loss of life was recorded.

The property damage at almost every town on the coast between Mobile and New Orleans exceeds that sustained in the 1909 hurricane. More than 150 schooners were wrecked between Gulfport and New Orleans.

A large British steamer was reported ashore at Gulfport. At Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and other places west of those towns, large schooners dot the main land, some of them ten and fifteen feet above tidewater level.

Loss of Life to East 100

The loss of life at points west of New Orleans is estimated approximately at 100, including the crews of schooners which had not been reported up to a late hour today.

In the Louisiana marsh there were approximately ninety schooners ashore, many of them turned completely over. Aboard these ships were 540 men. Nearly 100 of these were rescued and brought into Pass Christian and Bay St. Louis Thursday night and Friday morning, but it is believed that many of the others perished.

After passing New Orleans the hurricane swerved toward the northeast and passed between this city and Jackson, Miss., according to reports received by Dr. J. M. Cline, chief of the weather bureau here. A barometer reading of 29.2 was reported from Jackson.

The known dead are apportioned as follows:

New Orleans and suburbs, 18.
Barataria district, 43.
Rigolets, 24.
Pointe a La Hache, 31.
Lake Catherine, 17.
Yelousky, 17.

Bay St. Louis, 2.
Hammond, 2.
Ostrica, 2.
Nestor, 2.
Nicholls, 1.
Bayou Lafourche, 1.
Total, 216.

The reported dead are: One hundred along Mississippi river from Myrtle Grove to Buras, thirty at Bayou Lafourche, twenty-five at La Branche, twenty-five at Island De La Croix, seventeen at St. Sophie, four near Harvey, three at Killma, two on Launch J. N. R., two near Houma. Total 208.

Among the missing are ninety of the crews of fifteen fishing schooners unreported at Bayou Le Mare, fourteen at Rigolets, six at Leveille, (Continued on Page 6, col. 6)

SEVEN LA CROSSE PEOPLE THOUGHT SAFE IN HURRICANE

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Evans Among Local Folks Who Are Cut Off in New Orleans

ALL OUT OF WORST AREA

Residence Portion of Crescent City Escapes Greatest Violence of the Storm

"Everybody here safe, including Dr. and Mrs. Evans, who left this morning for Los Angeles. Just put this show on for their benefit. We suffered very little damage—others not so fortunate."

"R. A. THOMPSON."

The above telegram from Robert Thompson of New Orleans today relieved the anxiety of local relatives of four of seven La Crosse people known to be in the area devastated by the terrific storm which swept New Orleans and the gulf coast on Wednesday. First alarm for the remaining three was somewhat allayed today when details of the storm brought word that the hurricane's greatest fury had not visited the city of New Orleans proper, where the local people are believed to have been.

No direct word has been heard from them, but this is believed to be due to the difficulty of getting messages out of the storm-wrecked district.

The seven La Crosse people in the storm area are Dr. and Mrs. Edward Evans, John Byrne, R. Jacobs, John Kohn, Robert and Jack Thompson. The latter four are permanent residents of the southern metropolis, having moved there some years ago from this city.

Caught by Storm

Dr. and Mrs. Evans were to have left New Orleans Thursday for San Francisco and Los Angeles. The telegram, saying they left Friday, was 24 hours getting through from New Orleans. They have been the guests of Robert A. Thompson, brother of Mrs. Evans, and a prominent contractor and builder of the southern city. Mr. Thompson was engaged in the insurance business in this city until eleven years ago.

The Mississippi cuts through the heart of New Orleans, dividing the city into two main divisions. New Orleans proper and West End. New Orleans proper constitutes the residential section of city, while West End is given over to parks, amusement houses, and business establishments. It is this section of the city which lies in the path of the hurricane.

Byrne Wires

George Byrne, former star high school quarterback, and a brother of John Byrne, who is located in New Orleans, wired his brother concerning his safety yesterday. He was to learn today whether his message went through to the city, but up to noon had not heard either from the company or his brother. John Byrne is employed as a telegraph operator with the Western Union Telegraph company at New Orleans.

Arthur Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Jacobs, 620 South Seventh street, is also a resident of New Orleans proper, it was said this morning, by Mrs. Jacobs. Jacobs is the owner of a jitney bus line in New Orleans, and it is not known in what part of the city he was at the time of the hurricane. He is married and has a son three years old. He has been in New Orleans for the past seven years.

Daddy's Bedtime

How Carlo Pulled Story—Bibbly Wah Out of the Brook.

ONE of the pets on the uncle's wonderful farm was a big shepherd dog by the name of Carlo. He was intelligent enough to bring the cows home from pasture every night, and when the boys were busy he took care of Bibbly Wah," began daddy.

"Not very far from the home there was a beautiful little brook which ran through a pleasant meadow. Willow trees threw their feathery leaves across it, and fresh water creases lined its bed. Smooth stones made the bottom so clean that you could see the minnows dart, and mosses and wild flowers lined its bank. It was probably the nicest brook that a little girl ever grew up by side, and Bibbly Wah and Carlo spent hours wading in it."

"How far from the house was it?" asked Jack.
"Not very far. Near enough so the cook could bring ever cookies and milk every afternoon about 3 o'clock. Now, a beautiful country road overhung with maples and bordered with grass ran past the brook, which had an old, bent bridge across it. When teams came rumbling down the road and people passed over the bridge the children used to run underneath it to hear the echo. It sounded just like an army crossing. And, besides, when Bibbly Wah waded she used to wind her dress up into her belt so not to get it wet, and, being rather shy, she did not like to have strangers see her. Under the bridge was a good place to hide, too, when any one came to tell the children it was time to come home."

"Well, one fall day, when the beautiful brook had been filled very high with the autumn rains, the kiddies all went out to play in it. It was great fun to float shingle boats down its stream, to wade in up to one's waist, scream with joy and dash back up the slippery bank. The boys started in to dam up the pool for a skating pond at Thanksgiving and left Bibbly Wah and Carlo to take care of themselves."

"Bibbly Wah is going to fall in!" cried Jack.
Daddy smiled. "The water was so high that the room under the old bridge was all gone. Soon a pair of black horses came trotting down the road, and, being all wet and mussy, Bibbly Wah started to duck out of sight under the bridge. Her little foot tripped on a slippery stone, into the brook she splashed, and the wagon made so much noise that the boys did not hear her scream. Only the faithful Carlo heard. Into the brook he dashed, grabbed Bibbly Wah by her dress and, swimming across to the other side, laid her on the grass."

"Carlo saved her life, didn't he?" cried the kiddies.
"Probably, for the water was very high and the boys busy," said daddy.

Settled in New York

Mr. Jesse Boorman was born in Kent county, England, July 4, 1830. When in infancy his mother died, his father came to America, sailing from Liverpool, they arrived in New York City January 1st, 1831. The family settled in Chautauque, New York, but eight years later, they moved to Walworth county, Wisconsin, where his childhood and early manhood was spent.

In 1854 Mr. Boorman came through this region to La Crosse. He pre-empted the land here from St. Mary's church to the C. M. and St. Paul depot. President James Buchanan signing the deed. This land Mr. Boorman later traded to Robert E. Gillett for his farm east of the city.

On November 4, 1858 he was married to Miss L. Constance Ryland, and soon came to Tomah to reside permanently. Twelve years ago they retired from farm life and have since resided at 711 Kilbourne Ave. He is survived by his wife and one son, Dr. Curtis A. Boorman of Grand Rapids, Wis.

Celebrate Birthday
On July 4th of this year, Mr. Boorman celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday by a reunion of relatives at his home. Although he was in declining health at this time, he was confined to his bed only six weeks before his death, which occurred Sunday evening, September 26th.

Entertain Guests
Mrs. Frank Burlin and Mrs. M. R. Strouse with Mrs. G. A. Leak were hostesses at a delightful one o'clock luncheon on Thursday. There were about forty ladies present. The house was profusely decorated with dahlias, red in the living room and yellow in the dining room. The yellow color scheme was carried throughout the luncheon, in place cards, not baskets and favors. Those assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Fred Walter, Mrs. Charles Crotty, Mrs. L. W. Earle and Mrs. Ed. Schwerer. Five hundred was played in the afternoon. Mrs. Alice Eaton carrying off the prize and Mrs. L. S. Barnes, a prize in a sewing contest.

Local and Personal
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fletting entertained at a six o'clock dinner on Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Fletting's birthday.

Mrs. Edna Ellefson has gone to La Crosse, where she will be the guest of the Misses Hosely for a few days.

Mrs. E. C. Van Wie is spending the week end in La Crosse with her father, Mr. George Hodges.

The Shakespeare club held their regular meeting on Friday evening with Mrs. W. E. Bartel instead of Monday afternoon, on account of Mrs. Morris' visit to the club.
Miss Inez Corrigan entertained at a seven o'clock dinner Friday evening for Mrs. H. A. Clarke.

Mrs. Hulda Yackel has returned from Wausau and Embarras, Wis., where she has spent the past eight weeks visiting relatives.

Mrs. John Donovan and daughter, Mae, spent Friday at the La Crosse fair.

Mrs. Alva McMullen, Mrs. Henry Meinecke, Mrs. Al Zeibel, Mrs. Frank Knick, Mrs. Elizabeth Seymour and Mrs. Idesmoie spent Thursday in La Crosse with Mrs. Ed Curry. They also took in the fair.

The new candy kitchen will have another opening day on Saturday, when they will give away souvenirs. The weather was bad when they had their first opening last Monday.

Mr. Robert Jones and family of Watertown, Wis., have moved to Tomah. Mr. Jones is going to take Mr. Harry Butler's place at the laundry. Mr. Butler is soon to leave for Joplin, Mo., where he will go into business with his father.

News has been received here of the marriage of Miss Sarah Hayden to Rev. Charles Nisbet of Merrill, Wis., at the bride's home in Council Bluffs, Iowa. Miss Hayden was music teacher in the schools here a couple of years ago.

BEARS ON STREET WOULD SQUELCH SPECULATION ERA

Conservatives Fear Too Great Activities of Bulls Would Result in Reaction

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The conservative element in Wall street was reported to be taking steps to put a halt to the rampaging "bulls" of the street. They fear tales of huge fortunes won in a day and stories of millionaires made over night coupled with four successive "million share days" in the stock market, may result in a reckless speculation era that would ultimately end in a sudden slump in securities.

Large banking interests refused to admit they had taken action toward holding the skyrocketing market in check, but the word was quietly passed around in the financial district that the banks would call for larger collateral if the recent heavy market did not act more conservatively.

It is recognized in financial circles that the quick success of the allied loan undoubtedly was a contributing influence to the booming market.

Subscriptions were said to total over $400,000,000.
A seat on the Stock exchange today sold for $62,000—two thousand over the last previous sale.

Tales of quick "killings" in war babies were floating everywhere.
An electrical engineer is said to have bought fifty shares of a certain stock less than a year ago for 13. On his investment of $650, he is declared to have set aside $250,000 for his family and rented spacious quarters in the street.

Several well known figures in financial circles bought a thousand shares of Bethlehem Steel a year ago at 18, setting it away for their children. Today a thousand shares are worth $364,000.

AUTO BALLOON RACE HELD

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 2.—Noted and wealthy aeronauts were entered in the second annual auto-balloon race which started here today. Among them were Allan R. Hawley, president of the Aero club of America; G. K. Glidden of Boston, J. H. Wade, Jr., of Cleveland, Robert Glendenning of Philadelphia, E. B. Weston of Dayton, O., Herbert O. Brown of Walpole, Mass., Dr. Jerome Kingsbury of New York, Herbert Bishop of Boston and George Utsey of New York. The balloons entered were the North Adams, the Stevens 27, the Boston, the Delight and the Weston.

Leo Stevens, the pathmaker, went away first in the balloon, Dancing Doll. Five minutes later the balloons and automobiles in the contest were sent away. Honors of the race will be for the balloon and automobile which first reach the spot where the Dancing Doll may land.

VON PAPAN TO BE RECALLED?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—It was strongly indicated in government circles today that the recall of Captain Von Papan will be suggested to Ambassador Bernstorff when Secretary Lansing meets the German ambassador in New York tomorrow. It is believed thus far no definite word has been sent to Germany regarding the matter, but that the situation will be brought to a head within the next day, or so.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

BRUNETTE PREFERRED

BY HOPE AINSLIE

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"It's not any question of sentiment at all," the doctor said with dignity. "A brunette is more reliable and stable in disposition. Nelson; that is all. A blonde is predisposed to superficiality. She is liable to be selfish. A brunette may be jealous, but she makes a better nurse, I assure you. Here we can't afford to take even so slight a chance. I want a girl who can take hold of D cottage and handle it. Put 'brunette preferred' in the ad, and I'll pick her out when they begin to arrive."

Nelson drew a sigh and typed the ad. to catch the mail. He occupied several positions at the works. Assistant superintendent was one, also general correspondence manager and first aid to the injured hustler when accidents happened. That day two of the brass pourers had got into a fight just at 4, and slopped their ladles over each other. The doctor had rebelled and demanded a regular nurse from the city to help down in the little stuffy hospital behind the pattern room. Three days later, even while answers by mail were piling up for him to select from, the down train from Beauchamp left a young woman on the platform, and after one quick look at the barren landscape she headed for the low brick factory buildings down near the river.

"She's got red hair, doc," Nelson announced gently, as he hunted up the doctor and told him of his visitor.

She had. Undenably red. Dressed in dark blue serge, with the perkiest kind of a tricorn white felt hat on her curly red hair, and her hazel eyes brimful of determination, she overcame the doctor's aversion and got the position.

And she wore, later on, when she appeared in her uniform, the most coquettish sort of white lawn cap. It was a sort of double frill, caught in the middle, that gave her the appearance of a disdainful young white peacock. She talked little. When she had occasion to come to the office, Nelson heard her humming to herself all the way along the corridor.

Now, even Nelson was aware that he was not an ordinary looking young person. Six feet two, weighing in at about a hundred and sixty, was not so bad. He had rowed in the "Varsity" winning crew and was nephew to old Rathburn, the owner of the Rathburn Malleable Iron Works. It had been his idea and suggestion to take the hospital department out of the buildings and build a decent cottage out at the end of the yards, where accident cases could be handled.

Dr. O'Farrell had backed him up. While he held his own practice in the small manufacturing town he was under contract to the works to patch up the accident cases. Sometimes a week went by without any. Sometimes, if work were rushing and the weather very hot, the men seemed to catch the contagion of thought worry and become quarrelsome among themselves. A rush contract would fill several beds over in the cottage.

Louise Hall was her name. She came from northern New York. Nelson found that much out the day the big belt caught at her dress skirt as she passed its lower shaft, and he pulled her away.

"Don't use this passageway," he told her sternly. "One of our boys was caught here and landed up against the wall yonder."

"You ought to have the belt protected," she answered coolly. Whereupon, thinking it over, Nelson went to his uncle and had the belt protected. So in one way and another she introduced a better and more careful system into the works. Life was a precious thing she taught even the doctor, while he smiled and wished her hair were a few shades darker. Red hair was a sign of a pronouncement of executive ability he told Nelson on the quiet. Still she was doing better than he had expected. Then came the day when Big Kalmuck, the foreman over in the gray iron division, tumbled over with the heat and when he came to attacked the doctor.

There was no one in the hospital cottage when it happened but the nurse and a couple of patients, but somehow a cone soaked in chloroform was pressed over Kalmuck's nose from behind, and he dropped in a quiet, innocent heap at the doctor's feet.

By the time Nelson answered Miss Hall's phone call the doctor had slipped down beside him, protesting that he was not hurt, but Kalmuck's knife still remained neatly plugged between his ribs, and he became a patient at the cottage under the company's care.

It was the end of the first week that Nelson asked her to be his wife. He had been over every few hours to help with the care of O'Farrell, and had brought down the city surgeon for him, as well as the local man, but they all knew it was the care of the red-haired nurse that was saving his life.

It was along about 8, and Nelson was saying good-night. The door into the little side room was ajar, but the doctor had been sleeping, and she stepped out for a glass of fresh water. There Nelson held her hands in his and the glass was forgotten while he told her all she had been to him ever since she had first come. And the tears came into her eyes as she listened to the boy, but she shook her head.

"I'm sorry, Nelson. I know it should be you, but it isn't. You're everything that a man should be to win a girl, but that cross, self-opinionated, fault finding, irritable creature yonder"—she brought out each word between her teeth, and each one had a nod from the white frill cap—"he's the man I like best, and heaven only knows why. I can't bear myself for even thinking of him twice, but I've helped save his life, and some way this tangle has come out of it all. Forgive me, won't you? I wish I could."

After Nelson had gone she stepped back into the room, and the doctor's eyes were open watching her.

"I heard every word you said," he told her, a bit brusquely. "You should not have refused Nelson. He's a fine fellow and will inherit money."

"It's time for your powder," she answered with professional indifference.

"I prefer a brunette," the doctor went on thoughtfully, but with a twinkle in his eyes.

"It's absolutely immaterial to me, Dr. O'Farrell, what you prefer. I shall finish my case and my agreement with the company and then go back east."

"But I had no idea how interesting and delightfully entertaining a red-haired girl could be," continued the doctor. "I've been rebelling against a growing interest in you ever since you came, Louise."

"You are gaining strength," said Louise coolly. "You can still rebel."

"Confound it, don't you know," exclaimed the doctor irritably, punching his pillow under his head. "That I'm going to ask you to marry me? I've been restraining the impulse for days, but since you acknowledge that you—like me best—I think that I'm willing to stop rebelling."

He was eyeing her with a whimsical look of questioning. Then he did a very odd thing. As she stood beside him, a bit scornful and indignant, he reached for her crisp white apron and kissed its hem. Nothing he could have done would have conveyed the humility and good intentions that this did, and Louise laughed.

"You don't deserve me one bit, but I do think you need me," she said.

What a mother likes about a young man is usually what her daughter doesn't like.

THE NEWSPAPERS
AND LA CROSSEReflections inspired by the purchase of The TRIBUNE building by the owners of this newspaper take us back over eleven busy years since The TRIBUNE first bowed itself into this community. May 16, 1904.
That they have been important years anyone will hazard, but few we believe would guess offhand the completeness with which they encompass the substantial building of commercial and industrial La Crosse.This subject can not be properly approached without going back two years further, to the first administration of Dr. Wendell A. Anderson as mayor. His election came at a critical moment. The twenty-two saw-mills upon which the wealth of the city had been built had either ceased operations or were on the point of so doing. The streets were unpaved, the schools in bad condition, all business was stagnant. Here was a city, built upon a now peaking industry, left without employment.What followed is too fresh in memory to require detailed narration. Pavement, a sewer system, the park system, the new high school, undergrounding of wires in the business district, systematizing the water service, economies of administration—these briefly are some solid rocks laid in the foundation upon which a lost city was to find for itself a new place in the industrial world.The writer well remembers that year. People shook their heads lu-gubriously over the temerity of rash adventurers who had built their residences on the city's financially shaky ground. There were a dozen empty store buildings on Main street. Rents were down, real estate at a low ebb; industries were lacking and men were out of work.
Everywhere were the signs of ane'er-do-well community, subsisting precariously without definite ambition or heart of hope.Since that time there have been built the Rubber Mills plant, Wisconsin Pearl Button factory, the new Michel Brewery, Hackner's Altar plant, La Crosse Hat works, Hans Motor company factory, the new Funke, Kratchwil and Montague factories and many smaller establishments. Listman Mills have doubled their plant, green houses have been built or enlarged, nearly every brewery has added extensive buildings, the Advance Bedding company has been established and factory extensions too numerous to enumerate have been made; garment manufacture and knitting have entered the front rank of local industry.Since then eleven splendid new buildings—hotels, banks, theaters, clubs, stores and office buildings—ranking within the first twenty structures in the city, have been erected in the loop district, and almost every business front in this section has been remodeled.Since then the La Crosse Trust company has been established, banking, in bulk, has doubled; several moving picture houses have opened, every office building is filled, vacant stores are a thing of the past, the residence section has extended from Sixteenth street east to Losey Boulevard, demand for residences exceeds the supply, many new mercantile establishments have been launched.In this same period La Crosse has become a great jobbing center, its dealers reaching out into many states and taking the name "La Crosse" into foreign countries.To enumerate from memory all the new industries and activities that have come and the old ones that have grown is too great a task. Suffice it to say that La Crosse has "grown up" during the last decade and a quarter.The statistical-minded person may arise to observe that with all this boasted growth population in La Crosse has not increased to exceed 3,000. This may be disposed of by the pertinent rejoinder that thousands of people, trained in lumber employment and river craft, left this city for other lumbering fields when logging and lumbering ceased on the Mississippi. The old La Crosse has gone. This is a new city with a new destiny.Naturally we are interested in observing what part the newspapers have had in the transformation of La Crosse from a slovenly and unthrifty city to one of the most up-to-date of American communities, and we crave indulgence if we seem to speak well of the role they have played.Until early in 1900 newspapers in La Crosse had been little more than political organs, living on meager advertising and wasting most of their limited circulation. Although there were some exceptions, this was the general small-city newspaper condition of the times. There had been some notable failures here in attempting more elaborate publications, for even with the scissors supplementing the "pony" telegraph reports, revenues had proved insufficient to meet the modest demands or superficial journalism.It was not until the establishment of The TRIBUNE and the merger of the Republican and Leader and the Daily Press that the making of modern daily newspapers began in this city, and perhaps the vigor of a civic controversy involving the newspapers was a blessing in disguise, for it gave to their competition a purpose and zest in which opposing factions among the citizens participated with the result that many began advertising on partisan sentiment, but continued because they found that "it pays to advertise." At any rate better equipment and earnest and persistent canvassing to which the conflict drove the competing papers brought more business—more readers and more advertising—and more advertising taught more businessmen that still more advertising was a good investment.This neck-and-neck race continued until 1907, when the Lee Syndicate purchased The Tribune, placing it for the first time in the position of financial independence and bringing to it the advantage of ripe experience which enabled it to forge to the front in this field and to take its place in the very front rank of evening papers published in cities of less than 100,000 people.During all the years the history of which we have been reviewing, no call of the public went unheeded by the newspapers. Whatever the appeal—the promotion of factories, municipal improvements, creation of city spirit in every worthy line—it has been answered gladly and efficiently by the city's up-to-date press.
We recall no place in the road wherein the journals of La Crosse have failed to back the business men in efforts for the upbuilding of the community, and it is our faith and pride that they have exerted an indispensable influence in making of the unthrifty La Crosse of a decade or more ago the prosperous and progressive city of today. We may ar-rogate too much to our trade, but at least this is true: The asperity of the old lighting conflict inspired newspaper competition which built newspapers ahead of other growth in the city, and with the coming of these modern newspapers, and not before, this city entered upon a period of steady, substantial growth which still moves forward with sure and definite stride.

Things to Forget

If you see a big fellow ahead of the crowd,
A leader of men, marching fearless and proud,
And you know of a tale whose telling aloud
Would cause his proud head to ingulfish be bowed,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.If you know of a skeleton hidden away
In a closet and guarded and kept from the day
In the dark, and whose showing, whose sudden display Would cause grief and sorrow and lifelong dismay,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.If you know of a spot in the life of a friend (We all have such spots concealed world without end), Whose touching his heart-strings
would play on and rend, Till the shame of its showing no
grieving would mend,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.If you know a thing that would darken the joy
Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy,
That will wipe out a smile, or the least way annoy
A fellow, or cause any gladness to clay,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.If you know of a thing, just the least little thing,
Whose telling would cork up the laugh or the grin
Of the man you don't like; for the Lord's sake keep it in,
Don't, don't be a knocker; right
here stick a pin,
It's a pretty good plan to forget it.
—J. M. Lewis

rowfully when he let himself in at 2
a. m."Why not, my dear?" he inquired quietly."It's bad enough to be married to a night hawk and a loafer without making a liar of you, too," she replied, and he had no comeback.—

Preparatory Impressions

"What is your idea of the way a man ought to propose to a girl?" asked the bashful man. "Ought he to get down on his knees?""I think so," replied Miss Cayenne.
"He might as well make himself as ridiculous as possible at the outset, so that she won't be so much surprised after they are married."—Wash-

Versed in Flattery

It is not every man who knows how to compliment a woman gracefully. The following dialogue took place between a pretty singer and a celebrated composer who is by no means addicted to flattery."Tell me, my dear maestro, which would you like better, to be blind or deaf?""Deaf, madam, when I am looking at you, and blind when I hear you sing."

KAZAN

By James Oliver Curwood

Author of The Danger Trail, The Honor of The Big Snows, Philip Steele, Etc.
Copyright 1914, The Bobbs-Merrill Co.He rose to his feet, and staggered a little as he walked. There was a collar about Kazan's neck, and he chained him to the sledge. After that he dragged three or four small logs upon the fire, and went quietly into the tent where Joan and the baby were already asleep. Several times that night Kazan heard the distant voice of Gray Wolf calling for him, but something told him that he must not answer it now. Toward dawn Gray Wolf came close in to the camp, and for the first time Kazan replied to her.His howl awakened the man. He came out of the tent, peered for a few moments up at the sky, built up the fire, and began to prepare breakfast. He patted Kazan on the head and gave him a chunk of meat.
Joan came out a few moments later, leaving the baby asleep in the tent.She ran up and kissed Pierre, and then dropped down on her knees beside Kazan, and talked to him almost as he had heard her talk to the baby.When she jumped up to help her father, Kazan followed her, and when Joan saw him standing firmly upon his legs she gave a cry of pleasure.It was a strange journey that began into the North that day. Pierre Radisson emptied the sledge of everything but the tent, blankets, food and the furry nest for baby Joan.
Then he harnessed himself in the traces and dragged the sledge over the snow. He coughed incessantly."It's a cough I've had half the winter," lied Pierre, careful that Joan saw no sign of blood on his lips or beard. "I'll keep in the cabin for a week when we get home."Even Kazan, with that strange beast knowledge which man, unable to explain, calls instinct, knew that what he said was not the truth. Perhaps it was largely because he had heard other men cough like this, and that for generations his sledge-dog ancestors had heard men cough as Radisson coughed—and had learned what followed it.More than once he had scented death in teepees and cabins, which he had not entered, and more than once he had sniffed at the mystery of death that was not quite present, but near—just as he had caught at a distance the subtle warning of storm and of fire. And that strange thing seemed to be very near to him now, as he followed at the end of his chain behind the sledge. It made him restless, and half a dozen times, when the sledge stopped, he sniffed at the bit of humanity buried in the bear-skin. Each time that he did this Joan was quickly at his side, and twice she patted his scared and grizzled head until every drop of blood in his body leaped riotously with a joy which his body did not reveal.This day the chief thing that he came to understand was that the little creature on the sledge was very precious to the girl who stroked his head and talked to him, and that it was very helpless. He learned, too, that Joan was most delighted, and that her voice was softer and thrilled him more deeply, when he paid attention to that little, warm, living thing in the bearskin.For a long time after they made camp Pierre Radisson sat beside the fire. Tonight he did not smoke. He stared straight into the flames. When at last he rose to go into the tent with the girl and the baby, he bent over Kazan and examined his hurt."You've got to work in the traces tomorrow, boy," he said. "We must make the river by tomorrow night.
If we don't—"He did not finish. He was choking back one of those tearing coughs when the tent-flap dropped behind him. Kazan lay stiff and alert, his eyes filled with a strange anxiety.
He did not like to see Radisson enter the tent, for stronger than ever there hung that oppressive mystery in the air about him, and it seemed to be a part of Pierre.Three times that night he heard faithful Gray Wolf calling for him deep in the forest, and each time he answered her. Toward dawn she came in close to camp. Once he caught the scent of her when she circled around in the wind, and he tugged and whined at the end of his chain, hoping that she would come in and lie down at his side. But no sooner had Radisson moved in the tent than Gray Wolf was gone. The man's face was thinner, and his eyes were redder this morning. His cough was not so loud or so rending. It was like a wheeze, as if something had given way inside, and before the girl came out he clutched his hands often at his throat. Joan's face whitened when she saw him. Anxiety gave way to fear in her eyes. Pierre Radisson laughed when she flung her arms about him, and coughed to prove that what he said was true."You see the cough is not so bad, my Joan," he said. "It is breaking up. You can not have forgotten, ma-cher! It always leaves one red-eyed and weak."It was a cold bleak dark day that followed, and through it Kazan and the man tugged at the fore of the sledge, with Joan following in the trail behind. Kazan's wound no longer hurt him. He pulled steadily with all his splendid strength, and the man never lashed him once, but patted him with his mittened hand on head and back. The day grew steadily darker and in the tops of the trees there was the low moaning of a storm.Darkness and the coming of the storm did not drive Pierre Radisson into camp. "We must reach the river," he said to himself over and over again. "We must reach the river—we must reach the river—"And he steadily urged Kazan on to greater effort, while his own strength at the end of the traces grew less.It had begun to storm when Pierre stopped to build a fire at noon. The snow fell straight down in a white deluge so thick that it hid the tree trunks fifty yards away. Pierre laughed when Joan shivered and snuggled close up to him with thebaby in her arms. He waited only an hour, and then fastened Kazan in the traces again, and buckled the straps once more about his own waist. In the silent gloom that was almost night Pierre carried his compass in his hand, and at last, late in the afternoon, they came to a break in the timber-line, and ahead of them lay a plain, across which Radisson pointed an exultant hand."There's the river, Joan," he said, his voice faint and husky. "We can camp here now and wait for the storm to pass."Under a thick clump of spruce he put up the tent, and then began gathering fire-wood. Joan helped him. As soon as they had boiled coffee and eaten a supper of meat and toasted biscuits, Joan went into the tent and dropped exhausted on her thick bed of balsam boughs, wrapping herself and the baby up close in the skins and blankets. Tonight she had no word for Kazan. And Pierre was glad that she was too tired to sit beside the fire and talk. And yet—

BIGGEST SHADE TREE BEST SAYS FOREST SERVICE

Foresters Declare Sycamores Are Especially Suited for Planting in City

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—That the largest shade tree in the United States, as brought to light by the prize contest held by the American Genetic association, should turn out to be the eastern sycamore is not surprising, say government foresters. The sycamore has long been regarded as the largest deciduous tree in North America and its range of growth is hardly second to that of any other broad-leaf tree; for it can be found from Maine to Florida, and as far west as Kansas.

The bestowal of the prize on a sycamore at Worthington, Indiana, which is forty-two feet three inches in circumference and 150 feet tall, draws attention to the fact that foresters are nowadays recommending the species especially for city planting. They say that long experience with sycamores planted in city streets has shown that the species is peculiarly able to withstand the smoke, dust, and gases which are usually an unavoidable complement of urban life. In addition, the sycamore is as resistant to attacks of insects and fungi as almost any species, and is a quick grower; at ten years of age, a healthy sycamore usually is already large enough for shade as well as for decorative purposes. As for the latter, there is hardly any eastern species which is generally held so picturesque as the sycamore. With its strikingly mottled bark and magnificent stature and conformation, the sycamore has a marked individuality and can not be mistaken for any other species, either in the summer when the foliage conceals its structural form, or in the winter when the leaves are absent.

A common objection to the sycamore as a lawn tree is its habit of dropping its leaves before autumn. From this characteristic it is sometimes called a "dirty tree." Recently the forest service received a letter from a suburban resident who has a sycamore on his lawn. "My sycamore tree is very beautiful," said the writer, "until about the first of August, when its leaves begin to fall. Is there any remedy that I can apply to the tree to keep it from dropping its leaves so soon?" It was necessary to tell the correspondent that this was a characteristic habit of the tree. This drawback, however, is practically the only failing that the sycamore has, and it is offset by many desirable qualities.

On the other hand, there is little prospect of popularity, foresters say, for the valley oak of California, which was decided to be the largest nut-bearing tree in the United States, the content unearthing a specimen in San Benito county, which is thirty-seven feet six inches in circumference and 125 feet high. The valley oak is a very beautiful tree, but it attains maturity only after three or four hundred years; its wood is too tough, knotty, and otherwise imperfect to be good for lumber; the tree grows too slowly to be planted for shade or decorative purposes, and being found only in California, it would have small field of usefulness. Horticulturists say that the valley oak is not popularly considered a nut-bearing tree; for its acorns are not generally used for food, although, of course, they are edible. Foresters say that the chestnut and the black walnut are the largest nut-bearing trees in this country, and the contest did, in fact, unearth a chestnut near Crestmont, North Carolina, which is thirty-three feet four inches in circumference and about seventy-five feet tall.

The contest brought forth photographs and authentic descriptions of 357 trees in all parts of the United States, making a distinctively valuable contribution to existing knowledge of native trees. It was found that, in all probability, there is no living elm larger than "The Great Elm" at Wethersfield, Conn., which is twenty-six feet in circumference and about 100 feet tall, and is estimated to be 250 years old. Many remarkable specimens of species which ordinarily attain only small sizes were unearthed in the contest, furnishing new records of maximum growth. A sassafras was brought to light at Horsham, Penn., which is fifteen feet ten inches in circumference at four feet from the ground, whereas, for example, not long before this a Georgia town claimed that it had the largest sassafras tree in the world, though this tree was only something over seven feet in circumference. A white birch was found in Massachusetts with a girth of twelve feet two inches; a pecan was found in Louisiana with a circumference of nineteen feet six inches, and a catalpa in Arkansas with a girth of sixteen feet. The tallest tree found is a yellow poplar in North Carolina, which is 198 feet high and has a circumference of thirty-four feet six inches.

The value of the contest lies in its contribution of new information as to the maximum growth attained by deciduous species and the localities in which the different species seem to grow best. The relative sizes of the coniferous species are fairly well established, the Bigtree of California, for example, being the largest in the world, but information on the size attained by deciduous trees in this country has been very incomplete.

TAPS SOUNDED FOR THREE VIROQUA VETERANS OF WAR

Comrades Pass Away Within Ten Years of Each Other All Pioneers of Vernon County

VIROQUA, Wis., Oct. 2.—(Special.)—Three veterans of the civil war have died here within ten days. They are Jonathan H. Swain, 81, J. W. Gilman, 76, and Alex Morrison, 76.

Mr. Swain had been a resident of Vernon county for seventy years. He enlisted in the Fifteenth regiment, Wisconsin volunteer infantry and was honorably discharged at the close of the war. Hobart Swain of La Crosse is one of his surviving children.

Mr. Gilman died of heart disease, suddenly. He was a native of Calhoun county, Ill., and came to Viroqua when fifteen years of age. Mr. Gilman was a member of Company A of the Twenty-fifth Wisconsin volunteers. He was discharged on account of ill health and re-enlisted in Company B, Fifth Wisconsin volunteers in February, 1865. He remained in the service until the end of the war. Mr. Gilman was commander of the local post.

Mr. Morrison was born in Guernsey county, Ohio, in 1841. He came here with his parents in 1856. In August, 1862, he enlisted in the Twenty-fifth Wisconsin regiment of volunteers. About thirteen years ago Mr. Morrison was injured in an accident and one of his limbs was amputated.

Fame.

Fame is nothing more or less than disinfected notoriety.

The month of August showed exports valued at $261,975,771, against $110,357,494 in August, 1914, an increase of $151,608,277, or 137 per cent. August imports totaled $141,729,638, against $129,767,890 in August, 1914, a gain of $11,961,748, or 9 per cent. Thus, August trade this year shows an export balance of $120,246,133 as compared with an import balance in August, 1914, of $19,400,396, a favorable change of $100,845,737.

The twelve months ending with August 31, 1915, showed an excess of exports over imports of merchandise amounting to $1,365,334,346, compared with $373,528,276 in a like period one year ago and $711,755,672 in a like period two years ago. It also recorded a net inward gold movement of $146,254,775, compared with a net outward gold movement of $94,672,616 in 1913-14 and a net outward movement of $4,315,591 in 1912-13.

The aggregate foreign commerce of the United States in the year ending with August, 1915, the first year of the European war, was, including merchandise, gold and silver, $5,129,715,002, against $4,480,304,760 in the year immediately preceding the war. The net increase of $649,410,242 for the year included a gain of $754,847,489 in exports of merchandise and of $189,749,922 in imports of gold and silver, and a decrease of $236,958,581 in imports of merchandise and of $58,228,588 in exports of gold and silver.

AMERICAN EXPORTS SET HIGH RECORD

Figures Show Foreign Trade in Twelve Month Reached Figure of Three Billions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Figures made public by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, department of commerce, show that for the first time in the nation's history exports exceeded $3,000,000,000 in value for the twelve-month period. For the two of the August imports, 70 per cent entered free of duty, against 62 per cent in August last year.

Our international gold movements during the first year since the outbreak of the European war included imports of gold, $244,004,045, against $59,312,328 in a like period one year ago; exports of gold, $97,749,270, against $153,984,944 a year earlier.

The twelve months ending with August 31, 1915, showed an excess of exports over imports of merchandise amounting to $1,365,334,346, compared with $373,528,276 in a like period one year ago and $711,755,672 in a like period two years ago. ### ORIPPLE IS SUED FOR NON-SUPPORT AFTER ACCIDENT

John Hesselgrave Who Was Hurt at Onalaska Wins Case Brought by Wife

John Hesselgrave, who together with two other men came in contact with a high power wire on the Hatfield line at Onalaska January 20, 1914, and who was confined in a local hospital for five months as a result, was found not guilty of the charge of non-support preferred by his wife in the municipal court at Winona yesterday before Judge S. H. Somsen. Hesselgrave is unable to walk without the aid of crutches because of his poor physical condition since the accident.

After leaving the local hospital early in June, 1914, Hesselgrave went to the home of his mother-in-law at Winona, living there until, at the plain suggestion of his mother-in-law, he made his home with his father, according to the evidence yesterday.

Hesselgrave receives a weekly compensation of $9.34 from an insurance company, while his wife is given the mother's pension of $10 per month.

W. J. Smith, attorney for Hesselgrave, scored the complainant for bringing a man into court on such a charge when he was in the physical condition of Hesselgrave. In discharging the defendant, Judge Somsen declared that there was, as in many cases of its nature, too much mother-in-law.

HALSTED STREETER LIKES "LONELY SOLDIER'S GUILD"

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, Sept. 12.—(By mail.)—A breath straight from Halsted street, Chicago, U. S. A., reached London today via the British trenches in France.Writing to a London paper, which conducts a "Lonely Soldier's Guild" for the benefit of unparented and unfriended "Tommies," the Halsted street recruit said:
"The other day one of my pals put me wise to the fact that there is a society or something connected with your paper having for its object the befriending of soldiers who have no people or friends who will write to them while at the front."

"If that is right, put me on the list for the love of Mike, as I am the real, genuine, unadulterated article. I have lived the best part of my life in the U. S. A., and had come to consider myself a true-blue-son-of-a-gun of a Yankee, until this scrap started."

Well, as you know blood is thicker than water. The only friends I've got are the guys who will be waiting for me with the glad hand if I should happen to get back to Chicago with a few dollars in my pocket."

"So if any of the 'Lonely Soldier' people want to be a pal to me, I say to them, come now, make no delay, as the poet says, 'come early and avoid the rush.'"

The lonely Halsted street's name was not disclosed.

New Type Appears.
A new type of soldier is just beginning to appear in London.

They are big brown men, wearing sun helmets and short knickers and who walk about with their sleeves rolled up. They are some of General Botha's men who helped clean up German Southwest Africa and who are so anxious to get into real action that many have "trekked" at their own expense all the way from South Africa to London to enroll in English regiments.

Canadian Champ Recruiter
England's champion army recruiter is Sergeant Niemeyer—a Canadian—who, despite his Teutonic sounding name, has induced, within three months, more than 3,000 Londoners to join the colors.

Niemeyer, uses plain North American language on his crowds. Standing, usually, at noon-day on a box in Temple Bar or on the base of Gladstone Memorial in the Strand, he delivers straight hammer blows

NORTH SIDER PUTS THROUGH TRADE OF BIG BOTTOMS FARM

George Phillips Trades 700 Acres Opposite Dresbach for Mill City Garage of J. F. Sperry

Tom Morris returned to LaCrosse last night after putting through a deal in which 700 acres of bottom land across from Dresbach, and a number of farm animals, were traded for a Minneapolis garage valued at $24,000. Mr. Morris represented George Phillips of this city, in the deal.

Included in the trade were sixty head of cattle, forty hogs and farm buildings on the property. The new owner is John F. Sperry, St. Paul, builder of the Twin City Speedway at which the recent automobile race was recently held.

HOUSEWIVES PAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—American housewives are paying part of the war's cost, according to John T. Russell, former president of the National Master Butchers' association.

In an interview granted the United Press today on the subject of recently increased meat prices in this country, Russell said heavy demands of exporters to fill war orders is making a shortage in America.

"My niece, Fanietta Flooker, is visiting at our house, accompanied by her infant son, Hubert St. Aubyns Flooker," a trifle grimly admitted the Old Codger.

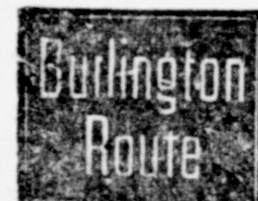

"A great deal of the time the baby cries for all he is worth, and his mother frequently states he is worth his weight in gold."—Judge.

at all before him who show any resemblance to soldier material.

"You're a bunch of white livered cowards," is one of the Canadian's favorite terms. "You are afraid to fight, if you weren't you wouldn't be here," he shrieks. He believes that gentle appeals don't get results and he is always direct to the point of harshness. He is a veritable "Bill Sunday" for "army recruits" and he seldom ends a speech with less than a dozen law clerks or others following him to the nearest recruiting depot.

"TRAIL OF THE LONESOME FAN"

"The trail of the Lonesome Fan," which appears at the La Crosse theater tonight, is the story of a big heart and big purpose, beyond all the wild spirit of feudalism there is the blue in the sky, the canopied the lonely rugged sea, the sweet spirit of June, and the iron-willed, masterful Judd.

A most elaborate production has been given Eugene Walter's dramatization of John Fox, Jr.'s, widely read book, and those who love June in the romance will be more than charmed with June of the stage and her delightful presentation of the mountain heroine, who has already become enshrined in the hearts of a million book lovers.

"THE GIRL FROM THE FOLLIES"

Arthur Clamage and his clever company of musical stars will be seen at the La Crosse theater Sunday afternoon and evening, October 3, in the tuncful musical comedy success, "The Girl from the Follies." Judging from the popularity of this company elsewhere, it is safe to predict unusual success here.

U. S. MARINE BAND

One of the most striking personalities in the musical life of America is Lieutenant William H. Santelmann, director of the U. S. Marine band which is to be heard in this city for two concerts on Wednesday, October 6. Director Santelmann, who has held the baton of America's most famous military organization for seventeen years, descended from a long line of musical ancestors. He was born in the province of Hanover, and at an early age chose the violin as his special study. At the age of 14 he took up the study of harmony, and four years later he enlisted as a volunteer in the band of the 124th Infantry at Leipzig, the great musical center of Germany.

For three years young Santelmann was connected with this band, and during that time he applied himself so earnestly that he mastered most of the instruments used in the military band. So, today, if necessity arose, he could play any one of the

GERMANS REGARDED AS LIBERATORS BY PEOPLE OF POLAND

COLOGNE, Oct. 2.—A tried leader of the Polish Social Democracy, Dr. Jodko, who is at Stockholm at present, describes the wishes and claims of the Polish nation in the paper Sozialdemokraten, says a Stockholm dispatch to the semi-official Cologne Gazette, which quotes Dr. Jodko as follows:

"We Poles do not believe a normal development, be it under an absolute or a liberal Russia, possible. Milukov is a leader of the constitutional democrats, who are also called Cadets, and other leaders of the Russian liberals have shown themselves the greatest opponents of Polish autonomy. The more the national self-consciousness develops among the Russian citizens the less become the prospects of the national development of Poland. The best remedy against the repetition of such a war is to weaken the opponents through the freeing of the oppressed nations."

"I leave it to the chivalrous Swedish nation to raise its voice for the independence of Poland. The Polish legions have formed six regiments which fight against Russia. To be sure, on the Russian side also a Polish legion has been formed, but it consists of only 1,500 men who belong to the army. It is therefore merely a Russian bluff."

"If we do not obtain complete independence, but are united with Austria, we shall at all events regard this as a great advance. We give nothing for the promises of the Russian duma. Russia always makes promises when it finds itself in difficulty. We believe that the central powers will give Poland freedom, for it lies in their interest to create a buffer state against Russia."

GERMANS COMPOSED SAYS NORWEGIAN

Scandinavian Theologian Finds Calm Confidence Evident Everywhere Throughout Germany

BELIEF IN VICTORY UNIVERSAL

Anniversary of Outbreak of War Occasions No Frantic Demonstrations from People

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 2.—The following tribute to the composure and firm determination of the German people appears in the Christiania Morgenblad and is written by the eminent Norwegian theologian Berggrav-Jensen:

"People say that one should not believe so readily in what one sees, for the stage has been specially set to impress people from abroad. The dreamer always believes that it is reality and finds the most valid arguments for it. I admit that the Germans are cautious in their statements to foreigners. But one does not need to go and listen at the coffee houses in order to hear their real opinions. The foundation which I have for any conception of the conditions is not especially imposing, but I believe that it is sufficient.

Conditions in Various Districts

"For over a month I have lived in close intimacy with German friends in different parts of Germany. I have been present at small social gatherings; I visited hospitals and spoke to pastors, nurses, physicians, soldiers and officers; I was in the country and visited peasants—introduced everywhere, be it noted, by old friends from the semesters in which I studied in Germany, not received as newspaper reporter, but as a friend. I know very well that there are people who were cautious. Anything like that one notices at once and becomes suspicious. But I also know that the majority were not like this. That could be seen plainly enough from their attitude as well as from their direct statements about their sufferings.

"Is doubt in Germany's fate beginning to make itself felt? From deepest conviction I must answer this with a decided 'No'—not in spite of the troubles and cares which I learned, but just because of them. The earnestness with which inner as well as outer difficulties and dangers are regarded is a clear proof of the firm belief in the Fatherland and its victory—not especially from the victory of war, but of the nation. It is true that the sentiment is no longer as fervent as it was last year at this time. The reason for this is that the fever is no longer necessary.

"The body of the German people has passed the stage when it needed the incentive fever in order to urge itself on. It has become calm and carries on its work without visible strain. That there are doubts—in a nation of 65,000,000—that is strange—that there are brokers, for example, who are in despair concerning their Fatherland because their mammon is going to the devil; that there are cosmopolitans who think that a stop ought to be put to those small discomforts and deprivations which one has to suffer; that there are poor who are lamenting because of privation and want—does that give us a right to generalize? As far as the poor especially are concerned, a system for their relief has been splendidly organized, so that now there is less misery than in time of peace.

Bread Cheaper Than in Norway

"Is bread really so expensive here? At all events it is much cheaper than in Norway. And is there a scarcity of bread? A distributor of bread tickets told me the following a week ago: "We received orders from the government to ask all of our people which of them wished a larger daily ration. Of the eighty-five in my district five applied."

"This experience cannot be generalized either, but it must not be forgotten that in a short time all the bread rations are to be increased. In Hamburg they are even thinking of abolishing the whole system."

"And now for the German papers which are accused of reporting nothing but victories. I might almost say: What else could they report in these times? (I am speaking of the east. In the west headquarters reported several times of late concerning the loss of trenches.) But it is by no means true that the German press is becoming intoxicated with reports of victory. It has been quite striking of late how soberly the German press has merely reported the news of each succeeding day during the great conflict in the east.

Calm Confidence the Note

"Finally, in this nation of impatient doubters, should the authorities, whose task must of course be to arouse public sentiment as much as possible with gildhall speeches and similar castles in the air, let a day like the anniversary of the beginning of the war pass by without taking any advantage of it? I was in Berlin on that day expressly to see the great demonstrations, etc., which I was sure the day would bring forth. How disappointed I was when the evening papers announced on Saturday that the only thing which would take place was church service in the usual way!

PENNSY CAPITAL DOES SPRUCE ACT

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 2.—Harrisburg has been celebrating for three days.

Back in 1901 Harrisburg discovered that as a city it hadn't much to brag of except being the state capital and that it scarcely deserved that honor. Only a mile of two of paved streets; no parks worthy the name; no playgrounds; drinking water heavy with coal dust and disease germs—everything, in fact, just about what it ought not to be.

So Harrisburg borrowed $1,090,000 and proceeded to dress up. Later it made other loans, until the aggregate was $2,451,000, while that much more was spent by individual property-owners paying for improvements in front of their real estate.

The city has more than seventy miles of paved streets, mostly sheet asphalt; far more than 1,000 acres of public parks, most of which it owns outright; a plant which filters all water used in the city; summer playgrounds and swimming pools for children; a summer camp for children; tennis courts and golf links for the adolescent and adults; and a river front and river basin which has been improved in a manner unique in the entire world.

The plans originally made in 1901 have been completed, which is the wherefore of three-day celebration ending today. Other plans have been made for the future and probably will be executed, for the remarkable thing about the expenditure of the millions of dollars has been that no one ever has yelled "graft."

The three-day celebration includes unveiling of markers, parades, addresses, etc., concluding with a street cabaret in Market Square tonight.

If it wasn't for our enemies life would be awfully monotonous.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS POSTPONED A WEEK

Building and Decorating Operations Causes Delay in Membership Campaign

The annual Y. M. C. A. campaign for new members, which has been conducted annually during the first ten days of October, has been postponed one week on account of the unfinished condition of the building which has been undergoing a complete renovation and improvement. The carpenters and painters are still in the building and it will be at least three days before they will be finished. The new dormitories are nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy by the end of next week. The new boys' department rooms are not yet completed. It is hoped that these will be ready for an opening one week from today.

The membership committees are planning to get in most of the renewals next week and put on a strong campaign the week following which will include in its program a public inspection of the building and special affairs for business men, students and industrial workers.

The physical director will announce the beginning of classes the first of the week on a regular schedule.

Members are renewing their memberships rapidly and the outlook is indicating a new high record mark in memberships this coming year.

The former two-year-old record was 2:47 and a fraction. The horse is owned by William B. Dyer, prominent horse race man of Lancaster, Wis. Bintara went the distance without a mishap and with Palmer only touching him lightly with the whip now and then. The exhibition was one of the prettiest ever performed on the La Crosse track.

Bintara's exhibition against time and the "fourteen" pace, won by Mischief, also winner of the 2:09 pacing event Thursday figured the big attractions of the closing day of the 1914 fair. Minnie Osten, driven by H. A. Rutherford, took the 2:25 trot in three straight heats and a like performance called forth loud cheers when Lou Tell, driven by Charles Hoffman won the "twenty-three" trot.

Monkey Bites Little Girl

An interstate fair midway monkey's love for popcorn, and a little girl's determination to keep her sweets to herself resulted yesterday afternoon in ten-year-old Rose Panchow's hand being bitten by the twice hungry animal.

Rose was rushed to the fair grounds, where Miss Marie Peterson, city visiting nurse in charge of the tent, administered first aid. One bite was considered serious, although it is believed today that no bad results will follow.

The monkey was being exhibited by the ballyhoo man of an animal show. Rose stood wide-eyed watching his antics. The monkey watched the popcorn bag, and leaped upon the little girl.

FURTHER PROGRESS MADE BY FRENCH SAYS WAR OFFICE

Lines in the Artois and Champagne Regions Are Pushed Forward During Night

GAIN SOUTHEAST OF SOUCHEZ

Approach Made to Vimy Heights, the Objective of the Artois Battle

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The French pushed their lines forward both in the Artois and Champagne regions in renewed assaults throughout last night and early today, the war office announced in this afternoon's communiqué.

Southeast of Souchez heavy French attacks have carried the French closer to the heights of Vimy, the immediate objective in the Artois battle.

On both the left and center, the French have made progress in the Champagne region. Overcoming desperate enemy resistance French troops pressed forward east of the Navarin farm and near L'Epine De Vegedra north of Mesnil, in the French center, French troops captured a German salient position.

"In the Artois region the enemies artillery violently bombarded out positions east of Souchez," said the communiqué. "But the French progressed in trench to trench fighting toward the heights of La Folie (Southeast of Vimy)."

"The Germans cannonaded new positions taken by the French in the Champagne."

"German reconnaissances in Lorraine and attacks on French posts near Moncel and Sommeville were repulsed," the war office stated. "German troops were chased back to their lines. Elsewhere there was calm on the entire front."

"French aeroplane squadrons have dropped many bombs on depots and railways behind the German front, notably at the junction of the line running from Guisancourt to Amfontaine. An aeroplane carrying guns bombarded the German lines during the night."

Sharp, sudden strokes by which the allies are said to be steadily improving their positions in the Artois and the Champagne regions have temporarily replaced the battering ram tactics of the first two days marking the beginning of a great offensive movement.

But dispatches received here today indicated that another heavy smash against the German lines will not be long postponed. All along the Anglo-French front artillery is becoming increasingly active.

Losses Reported Eight

From all sides come stories showing that French losses have been surprisingly light considering the nature of the fighting. Officers, it is said, fully expected to lose about 33 per cent of their men in killed, wounded and missing. As a matter of fact the casualties are reported as only about 11 per cent. This, it is said, was due largely to the magnificent artillery preparation, though countless ordinary slight wounds in the head were prevented by the new steel helmets.

A corporal, who was wounded in the head, said that in many places the German trenches were literally levelled by the pounding of French guns and the German occupants automatically buried.

NOTICE

A change in the ownership and management of the Linse-Bentley Co., merchandise brokers of this city, has recently taken place. On July 12 Mayor A. A. Bentley disposed of his entire interest in this corporation to Wm. Linse, who is now the principal stockholder and has exclusive management of the business.

MAX ALBERT IS HEAVY WINNER

La Crosse has a vineyard in the heart of the residence section of the city which is producing better grapes than the Granddard arbors. It is the pride of Max Albert, 1321 State street. Mr. Albert took four "firsts" on his grapes at the Interstate fair just closed. He also won second prize for winter apples grown on dwarf trees in his back yard. Two second prizes were also won on bouquets of flowers.

KLEEBER MARRIES PAIR

Robert H. Boelter, a prominent young Eau Claire merchant, and Miss Ida Couters of Condey, Wis., were married by Judge Leonard Kleeber at eleven yesterday morning at his residence, 108 North Sixth street. Mrs. Boelter was formerly a school teacher at Condey, Wis. Before returning to Eau Claire, where they will make their future home, the couple attended the Interstate fair.

COUNTER ATTACKS OF BRITISH FAIL IS GERMAN REPORT

Efforts to Retake Ground Lost to Teutons North of Loos Result Unfavorably

ATTACKS IN CHAMPAGNE FAIL

Germans Have Captured Ten Thousand Men and Two Hundred Officers Says Berlin

BERLIN, via Wireless to London, Oct. 2.—Counter attacks delivered by the British North of Loos in an attempt to retake ground lost to the Germans have failed, the war office announced this afternoon.

Attacks of the French southwest of Angres, east of Souchez and north of Neuville were also repulsed, it was stated.

"In the Champagne region the French attacked on a wide front east of Auberville," the statement continued. "Their attack failed except at one point, where they succeeded in penetrating our advanced positions. In a counter attack our troops took 71 prisoners and killed the remainder of the enemy who had penetrated our positions."

The Germans have now captured a total of 10,731 men and 211 officers around Arras and in the Champagne region, the official statement said. Thirty-five machine guns have been taken.

Destruction of two French aeroplanes in a squadron which bombarded Loos was reported by the official statement.

"An air squadron dropped bombs upon Loos," it was stated, "killing one woman and a child. We brought down two aeroplanes, one being ablaze."

"We repulsed enemy attacks north of Lemesnil and northwest of Villers-surbeule."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all friends and relatives who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement in the sickness and death of our beloved husband and father. Especially do we wish to thank Rev. Wm. E. Schmitt of the German Baptist church, the Frohman Singing society, and those who sent floral offerings.

Mrs. Albert Petrick and Family.

NATUROPATH CHIEF GIVES A LECTURE

Dr. Benedict Lust of New York Delivers German Address Here Last Night

Dr. Benedict Lust, naturopathic physician of New York, delivered a lecture on the principles of the naturopathic mode of living, eating and the preventing and curing of diseases.

Mr. Lust was introduced by Editor Adolph Candrian, staunch adherent of the naturopathic system. Mr. Candrian read an article by the celebrated Dr. Oester, wherein that great medical authority predicts the dawn of a drugless era and the adoption of natural methods of healing disease by the progressive part of the medical profession.

Dr. Lust spoke in German and began by giving much credit to Mr. Candrian for his journalistic propaganda in the cause of drugless healing and also to Mr. Riese of the La Crosse Naturopathic sanatorium for his pioneer work in naturopathy in La Crosse.

Mr. Lust advocated the prevention of diseases by the adoption of a diet of sweet fruits, nuts and fresh vegetables and the exclusion of meat and starchy foods. As medical factors Dr. Lust recommended hot and cold baths, all kinds of packings and particularly intelligent fasting. The audience listened with marked attention to the speaker's plain and impressive elucidations and the opinion that the lecture was full of valuable hints and suggestions was given general and emphatic expression.

FRAUDS DISCLOSED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—Frauds duplicate deeds of trust and other forged instruments by Theodore Peltzer, killed by a fall from his office window Wednesday, were disclosed today. Officials believe the swindle may total half a million dollars.

CHARITY BALL IS ANNOUNCED TO BE HELD NOVEMBER 5

Local milliners and modistes and their customers began to lay plans today when announcement was made that the annual charity ball, premier event of the winter season, will be held Friday, November 5. The executive board of the Woman's auxiliary of the La Crosse hospital made the announcement this morning. No details of the ball have been arranged. Committees will be chosen forthwith.

SIX NUMBERS ON NORMAL COURSE

Opening Feature Concert by String Quartet of Belgians; Miss Keyes to Sing

The announcement of this annual series of events is always awaited with much interest by lovers of good things from the platform. This year the offering is especially attractive, there being six instead of five numbers.

The opening number is a concert by one of the best string quartets—the Zoelners of Brussels. Musical critics of Berlin, Antwerp, Brussels and Paris as well as those of New York and other American cities, give assurances of the strongest kind that the Zoelners will not disappoint their La Crosse audience. This opening event takes place Monday, October 11.

Miss Margaret Keyes of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera company is the other musical number of the course.

Through the beauty of her voice and her genuine musical gifts, Miss Keyes has quickly advanced to the foremost ranks. Once she replaced

Margaret Keyes, Contralto in Normal Lecture Course

Madam Schumann-Heink at a concert in St. Louis. This and her engagement for Caruso's only concert tour of America, were among the factors that created a demand for this singer.

Dudley Crafts Watson showed La Crosse how interesting an art lecture could be made, when he talked at the public library and in various schools last spring. He was one of those who inspired the formation of our Art association of which La Crosse is duly proud. This time he comes with an illustrated lecture, bringing slides colored by his own hand.

John Marsfield is the lion of the hour in England, where he seems to occupy the foreground as a picturesque literary figure.

Mrs. Becker, the best of readers among women who do this work upon the platform, and Mr. L. O. Shields, president of the League of American Sportsmen, will furnish entertainment of pure quality for the patrons of the course.

A word of explanation is necessary regarding a slight change in the arrangement for tickets. Previously the general charge has been $1.50, with 50 cents extra for reserved seats for the season. This year, all seats are reserved, the larger part of the audience is for sale at the usual price of $1.50 for the season. Seats in other sections will sell for $1.75 and $2.00, according to location.

MARGARITA FISCHER IN CLEVER PICTURE

Remarkable interior pictures of a theater during the presentation of a play are shown in "The Girl from His Town," a four-part American production, to be released as a Munsie masterpiece. The scenes represent the interior of the Gaiety theater, London, during the presentation of "Mandala." In reality they were taken in the Republic theater of Los Angeles, where American actors filled the house from midnight until the sun was high in the heavens.

Margarita Fischer, star in "The Girl from His Town," plays the role of Letty Lane, the London stage favorite. She is shown singing and dancing her way to the hearts of her audiences in a manner remarkable as a screen achievement. It is as though one sat in the back of the house and really watched the audience give rapt attention and enthusiastic approval of a real stage performance.

Miss Fischer reveals clever dancing ability, with a scantily-dressed chorus as a background. She, in her ballet skirts, looks for all the world like an ingenue in a present day musical comedy.

At the Casino tomorrow only.

five in New Orleans and suburbs, two at Bayou Rigaud, Total, 117.

Hundreds of persons were still marooned in the flooded sections along the coast early today. Boats have been sent to rescue them. Three hundred persons are marooned at Empire, La., while seventy inhabitants of Grand Isle are reported to have taken refuge in a hotel when that place was swept by a tidal wave.

More than 150 schooners are reported ashore between Gulfport and this city, many of them total wrecks. Some of the boats are fifteen feet above tide level.

EMPLOYEES GET SHORTER HOURS

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 2.—It was announced at the United States Envelope company here that hereafter all employees will work forty-eight hours instead of fifty-two hours a week. They will receive the same wages they did for the fifty-two hours work. Four hundred workers are affected. The company in making the announcement said the wave of prosperity now setting in for American manufacturers was the reason for the change.

GIRL WANTS FATHER

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Lucy Ford of 438 Wood street, Lincoln, Neb., wants her father. The father, Van Ford, the girl wrote to Police Chief Healy today, had to place her in the Home for the Friendless in 1902. She has spent the last four years searching for him.

VAUDEVILLE ONCE A WEEK AND THE FILMS SIX DAYS

New Policy Is Announced by the Majestic Theater to Begin Next Week

PANTAGE ROAD SHOW OPENER

Anita Stewart Plays Tomorrow and Gold Medal Picture of Theda Bara on Monday

Vaudeville on Sundays and motion pictures the remaining six days of the week is the new policy of the Majestic theater, announced today. The motion pictures to be shown will be of the Triangle Service, the newest, highest class features yet produced in this country. Griffiths, Ince and Sennet, the three acknowledged leaders of the world in motion picture production, are the sides of the triangle from which the name of the service is drawn.

A five piece orchestra, an innovation in the motion picture annals of La Crosse, will play for the Triangle pictures, and for the vaudeville bills which will appear each Sunday.

Owing to difficulty in arranging a program meeting Manager Koppelberger's ideas of a proper debut offering, the vaudeville Sundays will not begin until a week from tomorrow, when Pantages Road show, an aggregation of high class artists, will appear. This show is playing the Twin Cities this week.

Tomorrow "The Sins of the Mothers," with Anita Stewart and Earle Williams in the leading parts, will be at the Majestic. The play was produced under the direction of Mr. Ralph Ince, one of the famous triangle, it is a drama dealing with the hereditary influence of the gambling instinct on a young and beautiful girl.

Monday and Tuesday, Theda Bara, the vampire woman, will be seen in the gold medal picture of the San Francisco exposition, "The Two Orphans." This famous play, the masterpiece of Adolphe D'Ennery, won the highest prize in competition with more than a hundred of the best plays of world producers, which were exhibited to a committee of judges at the exposition.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our late bereavement. Especially do we wish to thank Company B, Third Regiment Wisconsin National Guards, Rev. H. Andreas, and for the floral offerings.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Kutzbersky and Family.

General Baking company of New Orleans, is not in the danger zone, as made by the hurricane, according to Frank Kohn, steward of the Elks club, and a brother of the baker. He is in danger if the height of the water in the Mississippi river overflows the seawall which protects the city, which is several feet below the level of the water, he said. He does not think his brother to be in the path of the hurricane, if the reports available are authentic.

BAPTISTS INVITE STATE CONVENTION HERE FOR 1916

Representatives Will Carry Bid to Annual Convention at Green Bay Following Meeting Last Night

Rev. W. J. Peacock, pastor of the First Baptist church, and E. G. Boynton will carry to the state convention of Wisconsin Baptists at Green Bay an invitation to hold the 1916 convention in La Crosse. The invitation was decided upon at the annual meeting of the church last night. The Baptist convention has not been here for fifteen years, although prior to its last entertainment here La Crosse was the host of the denomination three times, ney. Peacock is a member of the state board of the denomination, and Mr. Boynton is a member of the efficiency committee.

Other matters of importance came before the church meeting. After a six months' trial of the merger service it was adopted as the plan for the morning services for the church year. Upon the unanimous approval of the advisory board of the church, the congregation, by a rising vote, created a new classification of members. Hereafter the church will recognize with cordial frankness any or all persons coming from other denominations. Such friends will be known as associate members. There will be certain limitations upon their voting rights, but associate members will be accorded a large place in the life of the congregation.

A number of changes and additions were made in the official board of the church. Mr. F. A. Grover was made treasurer, and Mr. F. R. Senn financial secretary. The board trustees, as now constituted, consist of L. J. Kilian, C. F. White, E. G. Boynton, J. W. Hanks, W. S. Scullin, F. A. Grover and F. R. Senn.

LIVE SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

REGET IN HOSPITAL ZEISLER EXPECTED TO RUN THE TEAM

Physicians Think Wallie Will Be Out of Hospital in Few Days; Tomah Here
Today

All hope that Wallie Reget, high school quarterback, would play against Tomah today was dispelled last night when he was removed to St. Francis hospital from his home at 1714 Jackson street, following an attack of blood poisoning in his left foot Thursday afternoon. At the hospital it was reported today that the pain of the wound has almost ceased and that the patient will probably be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Physicians are of the opinion that it will be impossible for Reget to get back into the game for several days, even after the wound is apparently healed, on account of possible re-infection.

Tomah footballers arrived at 10:40 today over the Milwaukee and proceeded at once to the high school where they ran through practice. They brought with them a goodly band of rooters.

Zeisler, who worked out at quarter in signal practice last night, was picked to pilot the team today, in the absence of Reget. He has worked at various times on the pivot job and is a close rival of Reget for the position.

High school students turned out en masse to the game, encouraged by clear skies and the probability of a close game. The illness of Reget, acting in a bearish nature, brought to many anticipation of defeat of the Red and Black by the visitors, the team's offensive having been built around Wallie.

FOUR MATCHES ARE PLAYED IN TOURNNEY

In the handicap tournament of the La Crosse tournament, four matches have been played. Hanks defeated May 6-1 and 8-6. Other scores are:

Moore, 6; 6; Kline, 3; 4; Corry won on forfeit from Crider; Roy won on forfeit from Johnson.

ASTOR CUP RACE POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The Astor cup automobile race, scheduled for today over the new Sheepshead Bay speedway has been postponed until next Saturday.

Announcement of the postponement was made early today when a heavy rain which fell throughout the night and most of yesterday gave no indication of letting up.

NORMAL REGULARS WALK ALL OVER SCRUBS IN SCRIMMAGE AT FAIR BY SCORING COUNT OF FORTY-EIGHT

GRAUSENICK AND STRUM STAR IN CARRYING BALL

Winona Man Comes Up to Expectations in the Backfield; Skemp Does Well at Quarter

The normal aggregation scooped up the scrubs at the fair yesterday garnering a total of forty-six points in twenty-eight minutes of fighting. The first squad worked well in its initial scrimmage, the backfield ripping off ten, twenty and thirty yards almost at will. Grausenick came up to expectations, the work of the Winona demon, with the interference furnished by the remainder of the backfield, being a feature of the game. The second team with such men as Ryan, Melnert, Bull and Grounds put up an excellent defensive, especially in the first stages of the struggle. That they were not lacking on the offense is shown by the fact that they were forced to punt only twice. One of these punts went for only ten yards and the other in the last quarter was blocked, resulting in an easy score when La Fromboise fell on the ball after the next play in which the ball was fumbled by the seconds.

Men Line in Final Quarters

Sputh's men did not show up as well as expected until the last part of the third quarter and the first of the fourth period when the first streak of brilliance was displayed. Bechtold kicked off to Strum who advanced the ball thirty yards by a neat piece of dodging. Grausenick duplicated this stunt with another run which netted thirty more. Strum then made eight. Feinberg went through the line for a similar gain and Skemp took the ball over on a quarterback plunge. In the remainder of the last quarter much of the scoring was done, the "Varsity" having been forced to give way to the superior work of the regulars.

Spuh Optimistic

Dr. Sputh was still optimistic after the first work-out at scrimmage. After bolstering up the weak places during the next few days and cutting down the amount of fumbling to a minimum, he thinks his men will start the season strong by coping the bacon from the Maroons of St. Paul a week from today.

The lineup:
(Regulars)—Ends, Bruha and Holthaus; tackles, Wachter and Jackson; guards, La Fromboise and Maroon; center, Taylor; quarter, Skemp; right half, Strum; (captain); left half, Grausenick; full back, Feinberg.

Referee, Moore; umpire, Lewis; head linesman, Hoepfner; timekeeper, Sputh.

FEDERAL RACE IS STILL UNDECIDED

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—That Federal title flag was still "on the fire" today. It may remain so until tomorrow. Rain stopped all engagements yesterday and preserved the status quo, as the European diplomats say, as the Gilmore circuit. The Whale-Rebel game which was not played at Pittsburgh yesterday, must be played as part of a double bill here today. President Gilmore has ruled, leaving everything just as it was when the sun rose on Friday.

We almost forgot to mention that the Cards licked the Pirates. Oh, well.

RED SOX WELL SUPPLIED WITH CATCHERS

Carrigan (left) Cady (top right) and Thomas.

The Boston Red Sox are well stocked with backstops for the coming world's series. Carrigan, the catcher and manager of the team, has not been doing very much behind the bat, but can be counted on in a pinch. Cady has been catching about seventy games and has been hitting a little below .300. Thomas has been doing most of the catching and probably will be the mainstay behind the bat for Boston in the big series.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN (Written for the United Press.)

The Phillies, with no apparent effort, and with nothing to win, walked the Braves again, 9 to 2. It's dreadful to contemplate what could have been done had the clan of Moran really tried.

After the pennant is lost, Pats Rowland starts Ed Walsh, and the Big Moose comes through with a victory. It's not improbable that had Pats started Ed a little earlier, his club would not be in third place.

The weatherman showed his utter contempt of things baseball by causing postponement of all but three big league games.

Milton Stock, who in all probability will be at third for the Phils in the big clash, combed four hits yesterday. This is the bloke that McGraw tried to make a ball player for for three years—and failed.

When the Giants wound up their pennant winning days, Stock and Demaree were given the gate—and fell right into another world series fortune.

Garrulous Garry Herrmann will flip a coin today to decide where the first game will be played. Garry always was rather flippant.

FIGHTER QUILTS

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 2.—Tony Ross of Newcastle, Pa., who was scheduled to box ten rounds here last night with Carl Morris of Sapulpa, Okla., quit in the third round after the referee had refused to allow his claim of foul.

WALSH WORKS FOR THIRD TIME AND SCORES SHUTOUT

Browns Fall Before Big Ed's Curves 8 to 0; the Phils Beat the Braves at Boston

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Sox 8; Browns 0

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Ed Walsh had little difficulty holding his opponents safe on Friday, thereby winning his third straight game of the season. The visitors were blanked 8 to 0. Only two hits were made off Walsh until the eighth, when he eased up after Chicago had won the game. None of the visitors reached third base. Lavan came the closest, when he doubled in the eighth and was thrown out by Jackson when he tried to stretch his hit into a triple.

The day was designated "Army day" in honor of Henry P. McCain, adjutant general of the United States army. Several companies of militia and members of the Boy Scouts were present.

The general was presented with a gold sword by the White Sox, in appreciation of the kindness shown the club in the Philippines, while it was touring the world. Gov. Dunne of Illinois made the presentation speech. The score: R H E St. Louis . . . 000000000—0 7 7 Chicago . . . 00004220x—8 8 1 Batteries: Koob, Phillips, Hoff and Agnew; Walsh and Schalk.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Phils 9; Braves 2

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Erskine Mayer, working out in preparation for the big series, held the Braves hitless for six innings on Friday. The score: R H E Philadelphia . . . 101041002—9 14 2 Boston . . . 0000000110—2 5 2 Batteries: Mayer and Adams; Nehf, Blackburne and Gowdy.

Cards 6; Pirates 3

The score: R H E Pittsburgh . . . 100001010—3 7 2 St. Louis . . . 000000006x—6 11 2 Batteries: Hill, Adams and Gibson; Doak, Steel and Snyder.

WORLD'S SERIES TO OPEN AT PHILLIE ON OCTOBER 8TH

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The first game of the world's series between the Phillies and Red Sox will be played in Philadelphia October 8.

The national commission today selected next Friday as the day for staging the opening game of the series and President Baker of Philadelphia won the toss for the city in which the game should be played.

M'Farland Says Gibbons Could Beat Him At 154

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Packey McFarland has shot all talk of a return match with Mike Gibbons full of holes.

"I licked Mike once. Why in the world should I do it again?" said Packey.

"When I was matched with Mike Gibbons I set the notch at 147 pounds at 3 o'clock, and I knew Mike couldn't make it. I outfigured him, that's all."

"Well, he came into the ring dead on his feet and I licked him. But at 154 pounds he ought to knock me out—and probably would. I have every respect in the world for this boy's ability and I tell you cold that he could whip me at 154 pounds ringside. That's why I didn't let him come in at more than 147 and that's why I wouldn't talk about any bigger figure now."

"If Mike wants to fight me at the weight I set previously—147 at 3—I will fight him. I know I can defeat him at that weight and I am doubtful about it at any figure over 150."

BULLET IN BRAIN IS DISCOVERED BY ELECTRIC WAVES

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2.—By aid of wireless electric waves manipulated through an apparatus made by Dr. F. H. Millener, physicians yesterday reached down into the brain of E. H. Mrsney of Clarkson, Neb., and located and removed a pistol bullet which would have inevitably caused death had it not been taken out. This invention, in the opinion of surgeons, will revolutionize surgery of the brain.

edge of the hair above the right eye. The patient was too weak to undergo a probe of the brain. Back of the left ear, a portion of the patient's skull was removed and the wireless finder inserted into the tissue of the brain. As the probe penetrated further a faint humming noise was heard in the head-piece of the wireless telephone. When the finder hit the bullet there was a sharp click loud enough to be heard over the entire operating room. A delicate pair of forceps was then inserted. It was pushed down the path of the finder right to where the bullet was imbedded. A pressure of the hand on the forceps fixed its jaws firmly on the bullet and enabled the surgeon to remove it.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—King George today presented medals to heroes of the Lusitania disaster. Officers and members of the liner's crew were among those decorated.

FIRE DESTROYS RAILROAD SHOPS

MARSHALL, Texas, Oct. 2.—Fire which started in the coach shop about midnight and burned until 2 o'clock this morning totally destroyed the coach shop, paint shop, general storage building and several smaller buildings of the Texas and Pacific railroad here with a loss of $700,000. An area a quarter of a mile square was swept by the flames and a large number of passengers and box cars consumed. The freight office and shed and the Marshall mill and elevator were saved after they had caught fire several times.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from a reputable physician, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

BERLIN UNDECIDED ON DISPOSITION OF CONQUERED PEOPLE

Under Secretary in Interview Says Belgium "Will Not Be England's Vanguard"

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, Oct. 2.—Germany has not yet determined what disposition she will make of Belgium, Under Foreign Secretary Zimmerman declared in a newspaper interview, but she is determined that any solution of the Belgian problem must make certain "that Belgium will not be England's vanguard."

"Germany has always wanted peace and she now wants a guarantee that the present war will not be repeated," said the foreign office official. Zimmerman added that Poland's future, too, is still undecided. But he said the decision in both instances would be left to Germany; that no one was able to impose his will upon Germany.

The interview was granted a correspondent of the Holland newspaper Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant. Under Secretary Zimmerman assured the correspondent that Germany had no intention of violating Holland's neutrality, or attacking her economic or political independence. Germany, he said, appreciates Holland's strict neutrality as to Belgium.

TEUTON OFFICERS AID BULGARIANS IN MOBILIZATION

London Sees Repetition of Turco-Russian Affair in Germany's Actions

LONDON, Oct. 2.—German and Austrian officers have arrived in Bulgaria to take active part in directing the mobilization of the Bulgarian armies, it was stated officially here this afternoon. In passing this statement the press bureau added that "this is regarded with utmost gravity."

The official statement was authorized by Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, who early this week warned Bulgaria that if she attacked Serbia the allies will rush to Serbia's aid.

"This action," the statement added, "is precisely similar to that which preceded Turkey's entrance into the war on the side of our enemies. It will be remembered that German officers forced Turkey to make an entirely unprovoked attack on Russia in 1914. Since the allies are bound to support the states threatened by such proceedings, the news from Bulgaria is regarded very gravely."

The statement from the foreign office created a sensation here. Everywhere it was taken as an indication that Bulgaria has finally cast her lot with the Austro-Germans and is about to enter the war.

WISCONSIN MAN IS PUT ON COMMITTEE

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2.—The National Farmer congress today elected H. E. Stockbridge, Atlanta, president; J. M. Devenny, Morris, Minn., first vice president; J. W. ### FIVE INJURED IN WRECK ON WABASH

WELLSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 2.—Five passengers of fast Wabash passenger train No. 1, St. Louis to Kansas City and Omaha, were injured early today when three sleeping cars and one coach were derailed one mile west of here.

The Des Moines sleeper and another Pullman bound to Kansas City were among the cars derailed. The Des Moines sleeper rolled entirely over and righted itself, according to reports reaching here, and the Kansas City sleeper partly turned over.

The injured: Mrs. Dora Dresslar, Topeka, Kansas, bruised over right eye; Mrs. J. F. George, West Salem, Ill., back wrenched; E. C. Wallace, 1070 Third street, Des Moines, hip bruised; Roy Collins, Maryville, Mo., hand slightly injured; Andrew Miller, St. Louis, back injured and sent to hospital at Moberly, Mo.

Passengers were transferred to chair cars and the train continued its journey.

GOVERNOR PHILIPP ENDORSES LAW TO GUIDE OPTOMETRY

Measure Standardizing Science and Banishing the Fakers Has Approval of Executive

H. CLAY EVENSEN EXPLAINS SCIENCE

Make Lenses Fit Your Eye; Don't Try to Make Your Eye Fit the Lenses

Many of our people in this state did not believe that the doctors and the State Medical society were opposing the passage of a law to regulate the fitting of glasses to people's eyes. Two years ago the law was passed in both houses of the legislature, and the bill was vetoed by Governor McGovern. The law was again passed by the last session of the legislature and signed by Governor Emanuel Philipp.

Before signing the bill Governor Philipp investigated the matter, and this is what he said at a banquet in the Park hotel at Madison before the Wisconsin Association of Optometrists:

"I expect the echo of it will come back from the various state and county medical societies tomorrow, but I want to say I signed optometry bill 498 because I regard the regulation of the practice of optometry as a necessity. The profession of optometry is entirely different from the profession of the oculist. The oculist treats diseases of the eyes, and the many years which he must spend in the preparation for the practice of his profession (which is really a branch of the medical profession) makes it necessary for him to charge a large fee for his services. Perhaps 90 per cent of the general public are so situated that they cannot afford to consult an oculist when they need glasses. But as the great majority of our people must procure their glasses from the optometrist, I believe that a board to regulate the profession of optometry is in order to give the best results to the public.

"Since seeing you here I am still more pleased that I signed the optometry bill, and I want to compliment you on the improvement you have made in your profession during recent years.

"Certain oculists told me I should not approve your measure, because to do so would make professional men out of you, but I am convinced that you are already professional men, members of a profession that the people need, because I feel that you come in closer touch with the public than the oculists can, and sincerely hope you will be vigilant and make your organization one of increased usefulness to the public. In behalf of the state I wish to express my appreciation of this greeting and to wish you all possible future success."

The Truth Demanded
Under this optometry law it will be difficult for the "spectacle fakers" to operate in Wisconsin. Many doctors have classed us all as fakers. You have seen the fakers offer $5 glasses for $1.00 in La Crosse, but their stay was three days only. Their methods will not stand the light under our optometry law, any one misrepresenting his materials will have his license to practice taken away from him.

As long as we have folks who will buy glasses for their eyes just as they buy shoes for their feet, we will have counters where folks can try the glasses on and select the pair of their choice, but the fellow who pretends to examine your eyes "free" and prescribe glasses will have to pass the examination before state board and prove himself competent.

Pearson's Magazine says: "Eyes Examined Free" is the sign of the faker. Nobody gives away a valuable service, and if you are not charged for the examination you will

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

pay for it in the price of the glasses.

The services are what make the glasses valuable. Pure crystal glass makes the best ophthalmic lenses and when the surfaces are properly ground and polished to meet the needs of the eye, you have perfect lenses. What kind of a curve do your eyes require? That is what you must pay me for finding out, and if I do not find this out, the glasses are of no value. Just return the glasses and get your money.

An Exact Science
Nero had an emerald whose surfaces were concave, and when held before one eye aided his vision, but he believed that it possessed mystical properties, and valued it above all his jewels.

As long as we have folks who will buy glasses without considering the ability of the man who prescribes the glasses, just so long will there be men going about from place to place selling glasses without any knowledge of Optometry. All this "mystical stuff" that has come from Nero's time would soon be dispelled if I could get the mothers and fathers to come and bring the children to my lens grinding laboratory. I would soon show them what makes a lens valuable.

Only One Sure Method
Suppose a dentist carried ready-made filling for your teeth or plates for the mouths. Could he give satisfaction?

Why do some folks abuse their eyes by adapting them to the improper glasses? My business is to bring parallel rays of light to a focus on your retina normally. If you cannot see after that is done, then all the lenses in kingdom come will not help you. The efforts of the eyes to normally focus the light produces many reflexes in the nervous system, and you hear of folks with headache, nervousness, nausea, neuralgia, fits, and even stomach trouble tell how much glasses have relieved them. The glasses get the credit. Hence folks get the idea that if they buy any old pair of glasses they will be cured of their ills. They forget that the efficiency of the glasses was the result of my skill and knowledge.

Everyone now engaged in the profession will have to take an examination before the state board. No one is exempted, except the doctors, and we had to exempt them to get them to let up on the opposition to the bill. Minnesota just amended the law and now compels the doctors to pass an examination before fitting glasses. Why shouldn't they?

Don't Gamble on Your Eyes
Investigate as Governor Philipp did.

Optics is an exact science, and because some physicians and business men attempt to fit glasses as a side line to their business, remember there is a difference in glasses. The difference lies in the ability of the man to make glasses serve your eyes normally. Few of the men who fit glasses know how to grind a lens or know the best methods of supplying the curves for the surfaces of the lens that the greatest optical benefit may be derived from the correction.

Quick, Sure Service
I have given La Crosse a complete Lens Grinding Laboratory where a broken lens can be duplicated quickly and accurately. Give me the opportunity and I demonstrate facts for you.

The only opposition to the Optometry laws now comes from the fakers and some of the doctors. Time will heal all things, and public wisdom will soon discover the reason for their opposition.

Very truly yours,
H. CLAY EVENSEN.

NEW YORK MILITIA HAS NEW WAR GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Those New Yorkers who were interested in seeing what a hostile army marching into New York would look like, gathered at Van Cortlandt park recently and saw. The army was composed of about 10,000 National Guardsmen from the New York city boroughs and their maneuvers were said to be on the largest scale ever attempted in the United States.

Having earlier in the day marched off into the woods to the north of the park, in the afternoon the army marched back, while Governor Whitman, 2,000 other special guests and many thousands of the public looked on and cheered. First came the screen of cavalry and the advance guard, with their flanking parties and after them the regular infantry advance guard, followed by the main body of troops, the rear guard trailing all.

The men, horses, artillery, ambulances and other equipment occupied two hours in their advance upon the park.

Van Cortlandt looked like an armed camp as early as 10 o'clock. Some of the cavalry and field artillery started operations the night before, the latter giving a demonstration of the noise that probably would be heard the night before in case a hostile army actually did invade the city. During the morning there were shows going on in a dozen rings. The engineer corps built pontoon bridges and laid mines, the artillery drilled and fired blank cartridges from behind neighboring hills, one squadron of cavalry gave rough riding exhibitions, twelve ambulances dashed about picking up imaginary dead and a whole battalion attacked mess in furious fashion.

It was a very warlike day and very successful for purposes of demonstration.

"WARRIOR'S WRIST" LATEST DISEASE

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(By mail.)—Following the "Trench Knee," the "Warrior's Wrist" is the latest soldier malady reported from northern France.

It's the peculiar affliction of the wrist and elbow caused by wearing of a strap watch with uniform. Ninety per cent of all the soldiers wear them. Fifty per cent of the ninety have developed "Warrior's Wrist"—painful at times, but not serious.

Frequent glances at the time-piece causes the damage. The arm is flung out with the elbow slightly and the palm of the hand down.

There is a pause and then a reflex motion that brings the hand up toward the nose.

It takes three weeks to develop the peculiar muscular strain commonly known as "Warrior's Wrist."

The Customer—see here! These eggs you sold me aren't fit to eat.

The Market Man—Certainly not. Why didn't you tell me you wanted eating eggs? I thought you wanted eggs to lend to the neighbors.—Judge.

Wisconsin has the largest tannery in the United States.

Wisconsin possesses more pure mired seed grain than all of the other states combined.

Wisconsin's pea packing industry represents 40 per cent of the entire country.

Wisconsin tobacco pays more per acre than that of any other tobacco state.

CANADIAN NOT IN HARMONY WITH FORD

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 2.—Major General Sir Hughes, Canadian minister of defense, has called Henry Ford to account. Hughes read with much disapproval the statement of Ford that if any of the banks in which he has deposits, participate in the Anglo-French loan he would withdraw his money.

Hughes is today awaiting a reply to a message to the manufacturer asking him if this is true, and asking also if he was quoted correctly as saying: "I would tie a can to the loan commission and pack it back to Europe."

Canadian officials are said to view Ford's utterances as unfriendly to the allied cause, and if so, they would be prohibited by government law from trading with him.

FARMERS INDORSE SUFFRAGE

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 2.—The National Farmers congress on Friday voted down resolutions opposing the sale of arms and the lending of money to the warring nations. It indorses woman suffrage, prohibition, restriction of immigration, postalization of the telephone and telegraph; extension of parcel post and asked President Wilson to carry out his "good roads" pledge.

New Jackson Model "34"—112 inch wheelbase; 32 x 4 tires—fully equipped, including one-man top, electric lighting and starting system, and Stewart Vacuum Fuel System. $985

New Model "34" Jackson a "Four" of Amazing Flexibility

Such smoothness and quietness and such power and flexibility as you never dreamed of getting in any "Four" are revealed in this new long-stroke, high-duty, balanced motor.

Vibrationless at 55 Miles!
Drive 55 miles an hour with this car and to your astonishment you will experience no motor vibration. You will discover also that there is less wear and tear on this new high duty motor, even at this tremendous speed, than on ordinary fours at twenty-five miles, because of the perfect balance and lightness of all reciprocating parts. "Balance" will have an entirely new meaning for you when you have ridden in a Jackson "34".

Wonderfully Easy Riding
because we use four full elliptic springs. You'll never know how easy riding is. Jackson is still you're ridden in a Jackson. Of course, Model "34" is sturdy, powerful, dependable, reliable, and durable, because it is a Jackson—with fourteen years' success back of it.
Completely equipped $985.00.

New Light-Weight "Eight"
Our new model "348", eight cylinders, has the same long stroke, high-duty, type motor as the four. But it's an eight with all the advantages of the eight—continuous flow of power and lack of vibration. Seats five comfortably. Wheelbase 112 inches. Completely equipped $1195.

Seven-Passenger "Eight"
Model "68" eight cylinder, family touring car. DeLuxe. In every respect equal to any eight at any price—and because of Jackson experience and efficiency comes to you completely equipped, 124 inch wheel base, 34 x 4 1/2 tires, $1685.

The immediate and urgent demand for all Jackson models suggests the wisdom of getting in instant touch with the Jackson dealer to ensure early delivery.

PLAN FOR MINERS TO BE SUBMITTED TO REPRESENTATIVES

DENVER, Col., Oct. 2.—What John D. Rockefeller, Jr., described as "a comprehensive plan for collective bargaining with employees and a model for adjusting labor troubles," will be submitted to representatives of Rockefeller's eighteen mining camps at a secret meeting in Pueblo, Colo., tomorrow.

The plan is Rockefeller's reply to the United Mine workers' demand for union recognition. It was developed by officials of Rockefeller's Colorado Fuel and Iron company, aided by MacKenzie King of the Rockefeller foundation, and perfected by the young millionaire himself during his study of living conditions in the camps.

Announcement of the detailed arrangements for self-government in the camps, presentation of grievances, appeals to company officials and exhaustive explanation of collective bargaining feature will be made by Rockefeller Sunday. The Pueblo meeting will approve the plan which was developed in the company's offices.

The scheme does not recognize organized labor movement of America, but Rockefeller was emphatic in declaring: "Any statement that this company will never recognize the union is unwarranted and would create unnecessary antagonism. Our plan is broader and more democratic than any system yet devised."

ALLIED SUBMARINE SUNK

CHURCH NEWS

Fashions in Christian Work
There are fashions in Christian work as in other things, and churches are putting into their management the up-to-date ideas comparable with the speeding up of plans in the work-concerns. The opening of this October year of the churches this October is to see, among other new ideas, a church for children. Several of the cities in the east announce such plans. There is no new building, but the existing one is used and the hour is 9 o'clock on Sunday morning. Young men form the governing body, and there is financial management quite distinct from that of the church conducted for older people. The pastor or assistant pastors preach the sermon. There is no separation of Christians on age, since the children's church welcomes people of all ages, and the 11 o'clock service welcomes children. The advantages claimed are the larger use of parish plant, and the tremendous interest young people are found to take in it because it is their own.

From Ohio and the middle west come reports of the inauguration in several cities of the second and third classes in population, of speakers and preachers bureaus, which provide trained men to talk on many topics more or less closely identified with religion.

From various parts of the country it is learned that not fewer than one hundred churches most of them large, are this fall putting in men to have full charge of business matters. These men are not engaged for all of their time, but are hired a la carte so to say, and paid for such time as they give.

Another new feature, obtaining especially in large churches in principal cities, is the employment of newspaper men to give out news to other newspaper men about the church. Hitherto ministers have done this work, or perhaps members of the official governing body, as they might have time. Larger importance attached to news of the church by most newspapers is leading to the employment of trained men for the handling of news at its source. Some religious bodies are also engaging men to put their reports into newspaper shape, and furnishing them to all who ask for them.

Perhaps the most striking innovation in church affairs this autumn is in building. The steeple, bell and even criciform ground plan are things of the past. New ideas in construction dictate buildings that look exactly like other buildings, and that above all are planned to suit needs, not planned to demonstrate ecclesiastical notions. One church in New York even proposes a church inside of an apartment house, like the duplex apartment inside of big flat buildings.

Episcopal Mission Has Good Year Financially

The Episcopal Missionary authorities announce the completion of their financial year $20,000 ahead of last year, and last year was $28,000 ahead of the one before that. The total this year is the largest sum ever received applying on regular work. The same authorities announce also the raising of an emergency fund of $371,000 in addition to the regular fund. The sum set out to get was $400,000, and efforts will be continued, the board states, until the entire $371,000 is in hand. Practically the whole $400,000 has already been secured, the statement says, because of the increase of the $20,000 mentioned.

A striking feature of the campaign, so those authorities say, has been the interest taken in missions by people who had not heretofore believed in missions, especially in foreign missions. The raising of an additional fund hurt the regular gifts not at all, but rather stimulated them. A very large number of business men and professional men, heretofore not entering into personal Christian work, gave time to canvasses. On the whole, so the members of the board say, the effect upon the church has been better than the money secured.

ITCHING ECZEMA COVERED ENTIRE BODY, RESINOL CURED

Could Not Sleep. 8 Remedies had Failed. Resinol Stopped itching Immediately.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11, 1914.—"My entire body, even my eyelids, was completely covered with blisters as large as a pea. When one would burst water would come from it, and then it would turn into a very painful sore. The burning and itching were something terrible, and I COULD NOT SLEEP nor rest. I think I had one of the worst cases of eczema a human being ever had."

"I used eight different kinds of remedies without success. I then tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it stopped the itching IMMEDIATELY. I gradually noticed a change for the better. Now I am entirely cured, and am without a pimple or blemish on any part of my body."

(Signed) Edward F. McCullough, 249 River St., Mattapah. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap heal skin eruptions, clear away pimples, and form a most valuable household treatment for sores, burns, etc. Sold by all druggists.

MARY PICKFORD IN GREAT FILM PLAY

"Rags," the current production of the Famous Players Film company, starring the beloved Mary Pickford, and the chief feature on the Paramount program coming to the Bijou, may be accurately termed one of her greatest characterizations. Written by Edith Barnard Delano, the famous novelist, and directed by James Kirkwood, "Rags" is one of the most powerful screen portrayals in which Miss Pickford has ever appeared.

Miss Pickford repeats in "Rags" the transcendent triumph she attained in "Tess of the Storm Country" and "The Dawn of a Tomorrow." Always inimitable, always human, lovable and impulsive, she makes the characterization of "Rags" a living, breathing incarnation of all that is sweet and tender. The dramatic situations are numerous and powerful, and the sacrifices, renunciation and ultimate triumph of the abused and oppressed title character are thrilling in the extreme. "Rags" is a genuine Pickford classic.

The feature will remain at the Bijou three days next week, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The week's strength on the stocks showed no abatement when the exchange opened today. United States Steel, which led the market yesterday, opened with a half point gain at 81½, a ¼ point under the five-year high record.

Baldwin Locomotive gained ¾ at 127, Studebaker was up 1½ at 141½ and Crucible Steel was up ½ at 105.

Bull traders who have made the week notable on the Stock exchange today turned from United States Steel to Westinghouse Electric and in a whirl of buying sent that stock to 138½, a new record price and just five points above the low of the morning.

The decision by the company's employees against a proposed strike was the chief bull factor in the rise. One-third of the market's trading was in Westinghouse during the opening hour. Total sales were 348,000; Westinghouse sales were 111,000 shares.

United States Steel was quoted at 80½ at 11 o'clock and American Car and Foundry made a new high at 86½. Other equipment issues were strong.

The market closed strong.

END INDIGESTION OR STOMACH PAIN IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapiesin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs feel fine

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapiesin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain indigestion remedy in the whole world, and besides it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know Pape's Diapiesin will save them from any stomach misery.

Please, for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it, enjoy it, without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapiesin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest, surest relief known.

GERMAN SOLDIERS KNOW NOTHING IS IMPOSSIBLE NOW

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 2.—Professor Karl Larsen of Copenhagen, the explorer and poet, who recently paid a visit to the German front in France writes as follows to the Copenhagen Politiken. He saw the troops who had participated in the heavy fighting in the Champagne and talked with them.

"They express the same thought which the many soldiers of Hindenburg and Mackensen, to whom I talked in Berlin and elsewhere, express. They say they have learned something they felt could never be taken away from them, neither during the war nor after the war or at any other time as long as they live. All declared in substance the same thought, whether they were high officers or common soldiers, whether educated or plain ordinary folks—war had given, as the great teacher, to every one of them the same lesson, which they expressed, so to speak, in the same words. They said:

"From now on we know that there is nothing impossible. Everything can be borne if need be. And there are no necessities, either. A little drink of water and a tiny piece of bread will last unbelievably long. And then all of us have become so familiar with death."

"These lessons with which the men will return home are significant of the development which will come after the war, whose far reaching effects can not now be estimated."

EIGHT HOUR DAY INSTITUTED

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 2.—The eight hour day has been put into effect at the Standard Oil refineries here. To put the new regime into effect 400 new employees were hired. Three thousand men are affected by the change. They will hereafter receive the same pay for eight hours' work that they did for ten previously.

LOVERS OF FLOWERS SHOULD SOW BULBS OF TUBERS IN FALL

Narcissus and Jonquil Bulbs Thrive Best When Planted Before the Snow Flies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Garden lovers who wish their gardens or the ground around their houses to be rich with narcissus and jonquil, should begin their work without delay, for fall is the time to plant the bulbs of these flowers. The work should be undertaken as soon as, or even before an early frost has weakened the annual flowers in the bed.

In the case of narcissus, many households will find it advantageous to naturalize the plant so that it grows and blossoms on the lawn much as the wild flowers do. In many of the parks of the larger estates of England, in portions of North Carolina, on estates along the James river, in Virginia, and in Old New England gardens, narcissus that were planted over half a century ago are still vigorous and produce every spring a beautiful display of blossoms.

To naturalize the narcissus it should be planted in the sod or partial shade. Make a small hole in the soil five or six inches deep, insert the bulb, pointed end up, and press the soil over the top. Planting in rows or geometrical figures should be avoided. An easy method of accomplishing this is to scatter the bulbs as if one were sowing seed, and then plant them where they happen to fall.

Soil Should Be Loosened
When the tulip and narcissus bulbs are planted in the beds, the surface of the soil should be loosened after each rain and the bed kept free from weeds. In the late fall and early winter it is well to cover the beds with a light mulch of straw or leaves, to prevent injury from alternate freezing and thawing. This mulch should be gradually removed in spring when the growth appears above the ground. If the soil is well drained, the bulbs will not be injured by severe cold.

Under suitable conditions, tulip and narcissus plants will increase from year to year. The bulbs, therefore, may be left in the ground for two or three seasons until the clumps begin to crowd. It is then desirable to transplant them. This should be done from six to eight weeks after the spring blossom in order to allow the foliage to die down partially. The bulbs should be lifted with a spade or fork and after the soil has been shaken from the roots, stored in a cool, shady place. When the old leaves and roots are thoroughly dry, they may be rubbed off and the clusters of bulbs divided. These bulbs may be planted as the original bulbs were. In this way within a few years a stock of bulbs is very considerably increased.

Eradication of Tick of Interest.

The freeing of over 9,000 square miles of southern territory from quarantine for cattle tick is of interest not only to stock raisers in that section, but also to feeders in the grain belt who buy live southern cattle to fatten up for market. The raising of the quarantine on September 15 over a large territory in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina means that for the first time live cattle can be shipped from the sections freed for anything but immediate slaughter, unless inspected or clipped and certified by an inspector of the bureau of animal industry in accordance with federal regulation. Beginning with September 15, however, stockers and feeders have been shipped from this territory to northern markets for any purposes. Heretofore, cattle from these sections when shipped had to go into the quarantine pens at the slaughter houses and be turned at once into meat, irrespective of the prices then being offered for stockers and feeders.

NEW PROCESS OF MAKING FRITING PAPER DISCOVERED

HAMBURG, Oct. 2.—A new process has been discovered, after long experiments, for the manufacture of printing paper, which will in all probability result in a change in the present methods of manufacture, says a dispatch to the Hamburger Fremdenblatt.

While the methods employed up to now consisted in the treatment of protoplasm, to which a certain percentage of cellulose is added, the new method will make it possible to dispense with the cellulose altogether and to utilize only protoplasm as raw material.

This method considerably reduces the cost of manufacture, which is especially important at this time, because cellulose has considerably advanced in price since the beginning of the war. The product of the new copyrighted process is not only equal to the paper manufactured under the old methods, but is superior to it in printing quality.

SUBMARINE FIRES NORWEGIAN BARK

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Norwegian bark Actie was set afire and destroyed by a German submarine in the North sea, according to dispatches received here this afternoon. The U-boat halted the bark while it was en route to England, ordered the crew to the boats and then applied the torch in several places. The submarine towed the lifeboats to Cape Naze, Norway.

We feel sorry for some men who are compelled to listen to their own talk.
